WHAT THE SOLDIERS DID.

Governor Taft Continues His Narrative Before the Committee.

MORE ABOUT THE PHILIPPINES

American Army Broke Filipinos Into Bands of Guerillas Which Have No Right to Other Than Severe Punishment.

THE MUTILATION OF CORPSES

WASHINGTON, February 5.—Governor Taft yesterday continued his narrative before the senate committee on the Philippines concerning conditions in the Philippine archipelago.

Referring to his testimony of Monday, he said he feared that he had given a wrong impression concerning the part the army had played in bringing the insurrection to an end, but if so this was due to the fact that he could not present a correct impression of the whole situation from one point of view. Then, in order to give the army its just dues, he took up and analyzed its work in the islands. He recalled that as soon as General Otis had received reinforcements sufficient for his purposes the Philippine army had broken up and scattered into guerrilla bands. On this point Aguinaldo and Luna had differed, Luna advocating the continuance of the war on the old lines. So sharp was this difference, he said, that Aguinaldo had directed and secured the assassination of Luna, thus leaving the way open for the carrying out of his own plans. He would not, he said, report the incident if it had not been positively reported to him by General Funston. Aguinaldo said that if he did not kill Luna, Luna would kill him. Indeed, the custom was to order a man's death in his abeence and have him killed upon his return.

Speaking of the military policy in the Philippines, Governor Taft said :

"The war has been all over these islands and that which remains is a crime against civilization. It is also a crime against the Filipino people to keep up a state of war under the circumstances. They have worn out the right to any treatment but that which is severe and within the laws of war."

Governor Taft also said that the great majority of the people of the islands desire peace and that the insurrectionists were by their acts preventing the mass of the people from settling down and earning a quiet living. Instead of being allowed to do this they were kept under a system of terrorism, which should be stopped.

The condition of activity continued until the last presidential election in the United States, said the governor. The insurgents believed that if Mr. Bryan should be elected there would be a change of policy and the islands surrendered, placing those who were in insurrection in charge, but when Mr. McKinley was elected there was a feeling that there would be an indefinite retention of the archipelago and that the system then in force would be continued.

Discussing the effect of the guerrilla warfare, Governor Taft said it often resulted in the murder of the Filipinos themselves. I venture to say that there is not a Filipino general or commanding officer who could not be convicted of responsibility for the killing of their own people. This led him to speak of the traits of the Filipinos, one of which he said is cruelty. He had been told by American officers of many instances of mutilation of corpses of our soldiers. This being true, it was not surprising that there had been some retaliation on the part of small bands of American soldiers. He had heard of no charge of mutilation, but there were probably some cases of what is called the "water cure", this method of punishment consisting of pouring water down the throats of men until they would swell up and, becoming frightened, would tell what they might know, as for instance to where guns could be secured. In this connection he called attention to orders of General MacArthur as to these practices, which were, he said, very strict. If these infractions of properity had occurred he was sure they had been in the face of direct orders to the contrary.

A Conscience Stricken Thief.

About ten days ago a number of tools were stolen from the American fire brick works near Lock Haven. Thursday morning a bag containing all of the missing tools was found at the door of the office of the works. The person who had taken the tools had evidently been conscience stricken.

LENTEN SEASON.

Regulations With Reference to Its Observance.

Lent begins on February 12, and the Roman Catholic and Episcopal churches are preparing to observe it in a spirit of penitence, renouncing pleasure and partaking of humble living during the holy season.

The observance of this special church season which is of more than ordinary significance, will be along the following lines :

All the work days of Lent are days of fasting on one meal with a moderate collation in the evening.

All the days of Lent are days of abstinence from flesh meat.

By dispensation however, the use of flesh meat is allowed without restriction on Sundays, and once a day on Mondays, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, except on the Saturday of ember week and the Saturday of holy week.

The use of eggs, butter and cheese, at the collation, provided the quantity prescribed by the fast complied with, is by general custom tolerated in this country. Lard and dripping may be used in preparing fish and vegetables.

Strict observance of Lent along all these lines cannot be required of everyone for obvious reasons, and the following persons are exempt from the obligation of fasting :

Young persons under 21 years of age, the aged, the sick, nursing women, those who are obliged to do hard labor, and all who through weakness cannot fast without prejudice to their health.

Persons dispensed from the obligation of fasting on account of tender or advanced age, or hard labor, are not bound by the restrictions of using meat only at one meal on days and which it is granted by dispensation.

Pointed Paragraphs.

A Dangerous See-saw.

J. G. Alexander, of Unionvile, had a very narrow escape from a bad accident a short time since. Mr Alexander had driven to Quiggle's camp, near Peale, with a load of furniture and provisions, and before leaving for home helped load a car with mine props.

He was standing on one end of a plank that was lying across a log, when a skid slipped off the car, struck the opposite end of the plank on which Mr. Alexander was standing and sent him up in the air some ten feet. By good luck or good management he avoided lighting on his head and came off with a sprained foot.

—Mr. and Mrs. James H. Lipton, of Downs, Kansas, will celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage on Wednesday evening, February the twelfth. Mr. and Mrs. Lipton are favorably and well-know here, their home before going to Kansas. It is all of thirty three years since "Jim" finished his second term as prothonotary of the county and yet it does not seem possible that he has reached the golden wedding stage. Mrs. Lipton was Miss Lucy Davidson and an unusual circumstance of the anniversary is that her mother, Mrs. Mary Davidson, is living. Mrs. Davidson was ninety three years old last October and until only recently was comparatively well and alert for one of her age.

—Mrs. William Kessinger, living at the Eagleville station, cut her hand very badly while using a glass wash-rubber last week. The wound became very much inflamed and causes Mrs. Kessinger intense pain. Fears of blood poisoning are entertained.

—Capt. J. W. Muffly, former adjutant of the 148th Regiment P. V., will lecture in the Court House on the evening of February 20, under the auspices of Gregg Post. Subject "Spotsylvania." Admission 25 cents, reserved seats 35 cents.

—Dentist D. K. Musser, who now occupies rooms in the Benner building adjoining Brockerhoff House, expects to move April 1st to more spacious quarters in the Petrikin Hall building.

—Mrs. George Herr, of Salona, who has been ill with pneumonia, was stricken Monday night with apoplexy. Her condition is critical.

ON LAND AND SEA !

Terrible Sufferings Which Sailors Were Subjected to.

SOME LIVES WERE LOST

Advices from New York and Philadelphia Go to Show That Many Vessels Have Been Lost—Some Heroic Rescues

GALE IS NOW DIMINISHING

NEW YORK, February 4.—The gale which has been sweeping the coast of Long Island and New Jersey for more than twenty-four hours and continued last night, though with abated force, has brought death and disaster to sailors and their craft. Reports of loss of life are confined to the eastern end of Long Island, whence comes the news that several bodies have been washed ashore. It was not known up to 10 o'clock last night what vessels the men who lost their lives come from. They might have been on either the barges towed by the tug Richmond, reported as passing Block Island without tow, bound from New York for Newport, R. I., or the tug Cuba, which passed Block Island two hours later and which left New London Sunday for Newport News and was returning without town. When leaving port the Richmond had three barges and the Cuba two.

Wreckage strews the shore in the vicinity of the Bellport, L. I., life saving station, and one body came ashore east of this station. One barge was thrashing about yesterday afternoon near Forge River station. The finding of two other bodies was reported later from the same point.

The largest piece of wreckage is the alter quarter and portion of the stern of a barge. On the latter were the letters "O P. E."

The crew of the American merchantman Schepp, a full rigged ship, which went ashore on Long Beach, L. I., shoals early yesterday, were in peril all day. The keepers last night say they are still on the stranded vessels, though the danger of death had been lessened by a slight abatement of the storm.

A westerly gale had been blowing at the rate of seventy miles an hour when the Schepp struck at 3 30 a. m. It was bright moonlight at the time and from Captain Andrew Rhoades's life saving station, a mile the east, the life savers had no idifficulty in locating the vessel. The men trudged along the beach, facing a severe gale and dragging their mortar to the scene of the wreck. They reached the Schepp about daybreak and found the seas breaking over her bow and stern. She was about 1 000 feet from shore and tossing heaviiy with every thurst of the powerful breakers. Her maintop gallant and royal mizzen topsail with the foretop gallant studding sail had been carried away and nearly every spar in her was twisted or broken. Several of the crew could be seen on the deck running to and fro in apparent efforts to keep from freezing to death.

The life savers of Captain Rhoad's station and those of the Long Beach station under Captain Van Wicklen made several attempts to shoot the life lines over the Schepp, but the afternoon's efforts were not successful. Then they tried to launch the life-boat but this too proved impossible owing to the high seas.

The crews of the sea-going tugs John E. Berwind and E. S. Atwood had a narrow escape from going to the bottom with their craft Sunday afternoon. Nothing was known of their plight until the arrival today of the German steamer Barcelona, the crew of which rescued the tugmen. The tugs had been delivering provisions to the stranded steamer Cavour, ashore at Long Beach, L. I., and were proceeding back to the point. When the gale struck them the waves began to wash over them, not only sweeping off everything movable but flooding their holds and getting into the fire boxes. The seven men on each tug were in immediate danger of death for over two hours.

The tugs were absolutely helpless and gradually sinking when the Barcelona hove in sight and took the half frozen crews abroad. Within half an hour after this the two tugs went to the bottom.

Captain Claus Bohn of the Barcelona is a veteran sailor. He has been twenty-six years with the company which owns the Barcelona and fifty years at sea. Last year he was presented with a gold medal by the New York Life Saving association for his gallant rescue of seventeen men in mid-ocean, the crew of a Russian bark that he found sinking in the Atlantic. He was later presented with $100 in gold, a prize established several years ago by the will of Emilie Robin, a philanthropic Frenchman, to be awarded each year for the most meritorious rescue in that period.

Both of the tugboats were fine vessels of their class. The Berwind was probably worth $35,000, and the Atwood $25,000.

A Pleasing Tribute.

The following letter from the Bellefonte Minister's association was received by Mrs. C. N. Woodson, too late to be read at the funeral.

BELLEFONTE, Pa., Jan. 23, 1902.

Mrs. C. N. Woodson .

Dear Madam—As president and secretary of the Ministerial association of Bellefonte, I am delegated by my brethern to write you a word of sympathy in this the hour of your sore bereavement in the death of your beloved husband. With profound sorrow we have heard the announcement of Brother Woodson's death. We all highly respected him and loved him as a brother in the Lord. His life among us was consistent with his noble profession. He was wholly consecrated to his Master's work. He accomplished much good during his residence in this place, and was universally respected for his consistent Christian living. His memory will be held and cherished as one of God's best and most exemplary children. Though departed out of this life he yet speaks by his Christian example to all who knew him. "The memory of the just is blessed." "The righteous shall be held in everlasting remembrance."

Please accept prayerful sympathy for yourself and family and the congregations your dear husband served in his pastorate.

Cast your care upon the Lord for he will sustain you. Hear the blessed words of the blessed Master, "I will never leave thee nor forsake thee," also "Let not your heart be troubled, ye believe also in me." And again, "All things work together for good to them that love God." "What I do thou knowest not now but thou shalt know hereafter." "He healeth the broken in heart and binded up their wounds."

Our united prayers are with you and your loved ones, and had it been possible one of our number would have come to the funeral and given public expression of the love and esteem in which we held your honored and respected husband.

We beg that you and yours will accept this token of our united respect and love for the humble, zealous and consecrated child of God as we always found your beloved husband to be.

We shall be glad if you will have this brief communication read at the funeral services.

May the dear Lord be with you in grace and peace according to your day and need. "The grace of the Lord Jesus Christ, the love of God, and the communion of the Holy Ghost be with you." Amen.

In Christian sympathy and prayer on behalf of the Ministerial association of Bellefonte.

I am, sincerely yours in Christ,

H. C. HOLLOWAY, D. D.

—There isn't any room for doubt that the remainder of the winter will be "awful cold." The prophets all say so and the man who disputes them is up against the real thing. The ground hog saw his shadow Sunday, moss has been found growing thick on trees, frogs standing on their heads, sun-flowers painted toward the north pole, grape vines running down the pole instead of up, and there are a thousand other signs to show that we are to have a hard winter.

—The citizens of Ludington, Michigan, have established a precedent which may be widely copied. Incensed at the charges of their physicians, they contracted with one physician to care for the health of the town at a stipulated salary of $1,800 per annum, agreeing to pay a stipulated fine where the doctor found he had been called unnecessarily.

—Jefferson county can boast of having the youngest sheriff in the state, and probably in the United States. Thursday Governor Stone appointed W. E. Chestnut, aged 21 years, to fill the unexpired term of his father, Jacob Chestnut, who resigned to enter the hotel business at DuBois.

—The Renovo Record predicts a prosperous year for that town and thinks 1902 will eclipse all former years. The railroad starts with a new $50,000 power house, and it is given out from reliable sources that a new freight house, with a much larger capacity than the present one, will also be commenced during the summer months.

A CONFLAGRATION.

Waterbury, Conn., Being Swept by the Flames.

ORIGIN IS AS YET UNKNOWN

Two Deaths Are Rumored to Have Occurred—Help Arrives From Other Cities, but the Work of Firemen is Unavailing.

MILITIA CALLED TO THE SCENE

WATERBURY, Conn., February 3.—The most disastrous fire in the history of Waterbury brake out in the heart of the city shortly before 6:30 Sunday evening and at 10:15 was not under control. A large section of the business part of the city has already been wiped out and in the high wind prevailing there is little hope of saving what still stands in that part of the business section south of Exchange Place. The fire originated in the upholstery department on the third floor of the store of the Reid & Hughes Dry Goods company, at 108-112 Bank street and that, as well as many adjoining buildings, are smouldering cinders.

Insurance men estimate that the property damage already done will be found to be considerably over $1,000,000 and there is no hope of extinguishing the fire before that figure is doubled. The origin of the conflagration is not known. The fire was not discovered until it had gained tremendous headways. At 6.15 p. m., A. L. Lyall and E. T. Crooker and A. K. Burnham were in the store. When they left there was neither smell or sign of smoke on the main floor.

Fifteen minutes later flames were seen to burst with great force from the windows of the third floor and almost simultaneously from the basement. Before anybody could ring in an alarm the whole interior of the building was a mass of flame.

When the fire department reached the scene flames were issuing from every window of the building and it was evident that the structure was doomed and the entire business section of the city was imperiled.

The fire started in a drizzling rain with a rapidly rising wind and with the increasing cold the rain turned to snow. The wind was at first shifting, but it settled toward the east and carried destruction with it. The first building to catch from the Reid & Hughes company store was a tall structure to the rear and westward occupied by the Salvation Army barracks and a Turkish bath. A moment or two later the flames leaped back to the eastward across Bank street and wiped out the Ryan & Fitzgerald block, Cannon & Webster's drug store, Davis's cigar store and the store of J. S. Mullings & Sons. They burned rapidly through to south Main street, jumped across that street, shriveling the buildings like paper. At the same time the flames caught the Masonic temple and traveled from the Salvation Army building to the rear of the Franklin house on Grand street and the entire block, consisting of eight or nine handsome five-story buildings with thirty tenements and the large and commodious headquarters of the Waterbury American were in ruins before midnight.

After 9 o'clock the militia was called out to preserve order. There was serious talk of blowing up buildings to prevent the spread of the flames.

The fire was partially under control at 10:50 o'clock. It has been checked on South Main street, and indications were that it would finally content itself on Center street with burning out the long block that contained the Franklin house and the American office. The First Baptist church opposite the latter structure was endangered, but was not burning at a late hour last night.

At 11 o'clock property estimated at $200,000 in value was still burning.

Shortly after midnight the fire, which had seemed to be nearly under control, had attacked buildings on the south side of Bank street and again raged furiously. It is now thought $2,000,000 will be a conservative estimate of the loss.

Two deaths are said to have been caused by the fire. Help has arrived from Hartford, New Haven, Bridgeport, Torrington and Naugatuck, and with the combined efforts of all the fire fighters seem to be unable to subdue the flames.

Axe Hard on His Toes.

The axe of Charles Holter, of near Beech Creek, while chopping a bridge near Woodland, a few days ago struck a girder and glancing, severed that gentleman's second toe and cut the great toe to the bone.

Something About Stamps.

When a stamp is placed on a letter it represents one of sixty made for each man, woman and child in the United States. Enough stamps will be issued this year to supply each individual in United States with at least sixty of them. Distributed among the population of the entire globe, they supply each person with postage for not less than three letters. Placed side by side in a continuous line the total issue would girdle the entire earth three times, forming a variegated ribbon around it nearly three inches in width. If spread out in the same manner across the United States, the stamps would form a paper sidewalk from New York to San Francisco over three feet wide.

Lost Two Fingers.

Mr. Richard H Niven, the popular superintendent of the College machine shop, Wednesday afternoon had the ends of the two first fingers on his left hand nipped off in one of the engines, when feeling if a bearing was hot. This particular part of the machinery now has the second victim to its credit, Mr. A. M. Arney having lost a finger in exactly the same place early in the College year. Mr. Niven has the sympathy of all who know him, for the corresponding two fingers on the other hand also have long since been lost.—State College Times.

Won't Have it That Way.

A special sent from Jersey Shore to the Philadelphia Inquirer says :

"Some days ago the superintendent of a local telephone company asked the girls to affix their signatures to an agreement, the main stipulation of which was that the girls would refrain from marrying for a period of five years. The risk proved one too many for the girls, and in one voice they declared that sign it they would not. The reason for the company's strange request is that it has been left in the lurch in several places on account of operators falling prey to Cupid's darts.

Sampson Near Retirement.

The retirement of Rear Admiral William T. Sampson will be announced in a few days. The Admiral reaches the age of 62 years on February 9 and the Navy Department will promulgate an order a week or more in advance announcing his retirement.

He is able now to walk a few squares each day, accompanied by Mrs. Sampson but his mind had become dimmed and those familiar with his appearance two years ago would scarcely recognize him now.

Surveying New Short Line.

The engineers of the Karthaus section of the West Branch valley railroad are busy surveying a line up the river from the tunnel to the mouth of the Moshannon creek and up the creek to intersect the Beech Creek railroad. The new line on Moshannon is likely to be built the coming summer and will be an outlet for the great coal fields in that section besides giving Lewis P. Miller a railroad to his summer resort at the mouth of the creek.

Tragic Death of a Farmer.

Adam Kramer, an unmarried farmer, has been living alone on a farm near St. Mary's for a number of years. Thursday morning it was discovered that his house was burned to the ground. Upon further investigation it developed that Kramer himself was dead in his barn with a bullet wound in his head.

It is generally supposed that the building was burned and the tragedy enacted on Tuesday night. The authorities are investigating and startling developments are expected.

Church to be Dedicated

The new Lutheran church at Lewistown will be dedicated Sunday, February 16. Dr. Ort will preach in the morning and Rev. Andrew Fichthorn, of Norristown, in the evening. There will be services each night for a week following, participated in by Revs. Reimensnyder and Focht, former pastors; Dr. Treas and others. Friday night an organ recital will be given by Frank Childs.

Dead Man's Abutment.

A colored man, whose name is unknown, went up to look at the abutment on the West Branch Valley railroad bridge at Shawsville a few days ago and fell off and broke his neck. His was the eleventh fatality about the place since the railroad operations were started. His body was shipped to his late home in Virginia.

Miss Clara Fay who is an accomplished musician on a violin also won the applause and admiration of all her hearers.

"More haste, less speed," and "hasten slowly," are proverbs born of experience that some things cannot be hurried without loss and waste. That is specially true of eating. The railway lunch habit "five minutes for refreshments," is a habit most disastrous to the health. You may hurry your eating. You can't hurry your digestion, and the neglect to allow proper time for this important function is the beginning of sorrows to many a busy man. When the tongue is foul, the head aches, when there are sour or bitter risings, undue fullness after eating, hot flushes, irritability, nervousness, irresolution, cold extremities, and other annoying symptoms, be sure the organs of digestion and nutrition have "broken down." Nothing will re-establish them in active healthy operation so quickly as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It strengthens the stomach, nourishes the nerves, purifies the blood and builds up the body. It is a strictly temperance medicine containing no alchol or other intoxicant.

Given away. Dr. Pierce's great work, The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send 21 one cent stamps for the paper covered book, or 31 stamps for cloth binding, to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

—A Williamsport alderman has just fined William Harler, a resident of Lycoming county, $100 for killing a deer out of season. And William ought to kick himself all over his county, first for proving himself a mean man and second for allowing himself to be caught in so mean an act.

—Clinton county produced this season the largest turkey ever raised in the United States, as far as is known. It was fed and fattened in the Nittary Valley, in the above named county, by Theodore Bernan, and when sold weighed 67 pounds alive, and 54 pounds dressed. It was shipped to Philadelphia.

—The Renovo Record predicts a prosperous year for that town and thinks 1902 will eclipse all former years. —Jesse Underwood and Miss Frances Allen, both of Bellefonte, were united in marriage Wednesday evening at the Methodist parsonage on East Linn street. The ceremony was performed by Dr. W. P. Shriner. They are both very popular young people in the town and have many friends who will wish them happiness in their matrimonial venture.

—The record of calamities made by the opening month of the new year is appalling. The devastations of fire and flood have been supplemented by the earthquake's horrors, and, treading close upon its heels the terrible subway explosion in New York with its attendant horrors. That such a happening was possible shows a criminal careleeness of human life for which it is difficult to devise adequate punishment.

—The Presbyterians of Port Matilda and Stormstown held a large and successful social in the hall at Stormstown last Friday evening. An unfortunate feature of the occasion was that Bud Thompson's sled, which was filled with sociable folks, was overturned and the bed, with its load, thrown off. No one was hurt, but the frightened horses ran until they were so exhausted that it is feared they are ruined for future usefulness.

—Foster, Charles and Augusta, three small children of A. P. Goss, while playing in a covered wagon in rear of the restaurant of their father at Hollidaysburg Monday, were severely burned, one of them perhaps fatally. Mr. Goss put an oil stove in the wagon to keep the children warm in their play. Little Foster, aged 3 years, got too close to the flames and his clothing took fire. His brother Charles, aged 8 years, attempted to smother the flames and he was badly burned on both hands. Augusta, a little sister aged 13, ran from the restaurant and endeavored to strip the clothing over the top of little Foster's head. Both her hands were painfully burned. Little Foster was frightfully burned about the head and face, breast, both hands and legs, and may not recover.

EXCITEMENT AT AARONSBURG.

Over the Killing of a Hugh Black Wolf Within a Mile of That Town.

Not a century ago most sections of this county were a howling wilderness and the deer and bear, the panther and the wolf roamed over valleys and hills unmolested. There are some old residents living who saw this game in abundance, most of which is now rare and some practically extinct, and especially the wolf and panther. For that reason there was occasion for excitement when the report was spread that a large fierce black wolf was shot recently at Aaronsburg within a mile of that peaceful village, on the old Harter homestead, now occupied by Forest Stover.

One evening last week about 10 o'clock, Mrs. Stover saw a large, fierce black animal in the yard that snarled and slunk away when she attempted to drive it out. When Mr. Stover came home, soon after, he heard of the animal and took his gun down and started out. It was in the yard feeding on some bones, but started to run. As it jumped the fence he fired and wounded it, and then finished it with a club. He dragged it by the tail to his woodshed where he examined the brute next morning. It had long black fur with brownish hair on the legs, and the fur stood forward about the neck, the ears were long, erect, and pointed and it had an unusually long, peaked nose. The next day the animal was taken into Aaronsburg and put on exhibition at Detweiller's store. It caused much excitement among the old hunters. All pronounced it a species of black wolf. Natural histories were brought and the animal proved by measurement to be exactly 26 inches in height and of proper length. The peculiar nose, long stiff black hair that stood forward about the shoulders were enough to settle the question. Cyrus Bright said it was no dog, Noah Cronemiller, John Hetzel and Zach Thomas, Robt Mensch and others, after consulting the books, pronounced it a wolf, Earnest Stover, who is a famous hunter of that vicinity, knew it was a wolf and got anxious to start in hunt of the animal's mate; Hal Crouse swore that it was a strange animal and did not have the smell of a dog, but Wilmer Stover did not agree with them. The animal was kept on exhibition at the store and was the topic of general discussion, and during the day most everybody in the town came to see it, many fearing to venture outside the town limits alone. By noon the weather got warmer and the ears began to drop and the heavy hair over the shoulders also dropped. Henry Weaver, one of the old residents of that section who in his time tanned many wolf skins, came and pronounced the animal no wolf. In the midst of the excitement Andrew Bahm, a farmer living south of Aaronsburg, came to town to see the strange animal and you could have seen the old hunters sneaking in every direction and the students of natural history carrying their text books home when he found that the black wolf on which Mr. Stover expected to get a fine bounty for the scalp and a nice price for the pelt, was nothing else than his farm dog, which, by dragging through the slush the night it was shot, had the fur turned towards its head and the ears were frozen erect.

Since then it is wished that nothing more be said about it—people are apt to laugh over their mistake.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been unable to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

BEAUTY SPOTS.

Glycerin and rosewater is a good lotion for chapped lips.

Tar soap has been highly recommended for skin irritations.

A few drops of ammonia in the water soften it nicely and help to remove stains from the hands.

A few drops of lemon juice in plain water is an excellent tooth wash. It not only removes tartar, but sweetens the breath.

A good piece of soft wash leather with which to rub the face after washing helps to keep the complexion smooth and white.

Falling hair can often be checked by washing with very strong salt water. Bathe the scalp with this every day until a cure is effected.

One pint of elder flower water into which one ounce of tincture of benzoin is dropped slowly while stirring, to prevent curdling, is said to be a good wash for an oily skin.

Keep the teeth nice. Have a pair of keen, critical eyes to watch a speck of discoloration and a good brush to scrub them with after each meal, not forgetting the back or underside of the teeth.

A wash for whitening the skin that has been recommended is made as follows: Cascarilla powder, two grains; muriate of ammonia, two grains; emulsion of almonds, eight ounces. Apply with a handkerchief or soft woolen cloth.

Fitting a Waist.

Among many other things of import a writer on practical tailor dressmaking says, "A general trick of a poor dressmaker when she sees that a waist does not fit perfectly is to pull it up on the shoulders." This is one of the most fatal mistakes, for at once the entire waist is thrown out of place and often cannot be restored to its original form. The best fitters are those who when they try on the lining of a waist pin it well below the waist line to the corsets, and if there is a fault, such as its being apparently too long waisted, obviate the difficulty by pulling the fabric down instead of up.

A waist that cuts the wearer at the back of the neck is one of the most uncomfortable things that can be worn, but the fault cannot be obviated by cutting out the neck at the back and pulling the collar farther down, as is generally attempted. The trouble lies almost without exception in the shoulder seams, which are too tight, or in the lack of material directly across the shoulders. An apparently hopeless waist may often be redeemed from utter failure by having a piece inserted at the shoulder seams and then being pulled down into the correct position.

An Odd Dinner Bell.

A novel and original hall bell, of which we give an illustration, is of finely wrought brass and is a copy of an old German original. With the ornamental bracket to which it is attached it makes an effective piece of hall decoration, a decided improvement from an artistic point of view on the homely dinner bell.

A FINE HALL DECORATION.

The Children.

It is a very important thing to know how to treat children when they are ill, but it is still more useful to know how to keep them well. A few simple, straightforward rules to be observed are: (1) Avoid excitement. (2) Avoid fatigue. (3) Avoid overwork. Food and clothing are, of course, very important in preserving health. Every one recognizes this, but the treatment of brains and nerves is often overlooked. Children are variously constituted, but all alike are delicate pieces of mechanism.

For the Cosy Corner.

An inexpensive addition to a cosy corner or Indian room is a leather cover for a small table. The table is decorated in oils or burned work with an Indian's head. At the top are made a few slashes in which are inserted fancifully colored pencils, green and red predominating.

The Heart Cry of the Motherless Maiden.

"Mother, come back from that echoless shore
And take me again in your arms as of yore."

When the mother is taken from the home, the loss falls heavily on each member of the family. But in time kindly Nature heals the wounds, dulls the memory, and comforts the heart. The little girl turns anew to her dolls and her plays and her mother becomes a memory. The real loss that she has sustained comes to her much later in life, when "standing with reluctant feet where womanhood and girlhood meet," she feels the need of a mother's counsel.

She is perplexed about conditions of which she cannot speak to any other. She thinks of the family physician. But her delicate nature shrinks from the questions she might be called upon to answer. And so without counsel or help she drifts along while every day time tightens the fetters of disease.

Young women instinctively know that certain conditions are abnormal. They know that heads and backs were not made to ache. But they do not know where to turn for relief.

ANY MOTHER WOULD SAY

what almost every mother knows, that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the best medicine for the cure of womanly ills. It not only cures headache and backache but it cures the womanly ills which cause these pains.

"I am so much better since I commenced taking your 'Favorite Prescription,'" writes Miss Jessie Simmons, of Thurston, Frederick Co., Md. "I am very much improved in health, and feel as though I had a new lease of life. It was just what I needed. Am more than thankful to you for the kindly interest you have taken, and hope that others will find the same benefit from your valuable books and medicines that I have."

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is not offered as a cure-all. It is a woman's medicine, and it accomplishes perfectly the cure of womanly diseases. It establishes regularity. It dries unhealthy and offensive drains. It heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness. It is a purely vegetable preparation, containing no alcohol, neither opium, cocaine nor any other narcotic, and cannot disagree with the most delicate constitution.

Young women especially do not realize how intimately the general health is related to the health of the delicate womanly organs. When the local diseases are cured by "Favorite Prescription" the general health at once improves. The appetite is restored, sleep is enjoyed, the form rounds out, the cheeks regain the hue of health. Miss Simmons says in the letter as a result of using Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription she feels as though she had

"A NEW LEASE ON LIFE."

This is not only a feeling but a fact, as is shown by thousands of testimonials which say "'Favorite Prescription' has made a new woman of me."

"I am still improving more and more every day. I am just as well now as I was when I came into the world," writes Mrs. P. A. Graham, of 617 Race Street, New Orleans, La. "I will put it at that, anyway, for I cannot remember ever seeing a well day since I became a woman (twenty-five years ago), until six months ago when I began the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Pleasant Pellets.' They are the best medicines on earth made for women and their complaints. No matter what the disease may be even if called incurable by the doctors. If any suffering woman will write Doctor Pierce he will write her a fatherly letter and give her good advice and if she will follow his instructions will find out in a very short time that she has been mistaken by putting her trust in home doctors. I had been sick for eight years until six months ago I commenced with Dr. R. V. Pierce's medicine and it brought me out to where I am now, from ninety pounds to one hundred and thirty-five. Any lady may write to me, enclosing stamps, and I will answer."

Women suffering from diseases of long standing are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter, free. All letters are read in private and answered in private, and the written confidences of women are guarded by the same strict professional privacy observed in personal consultations with Dr. Pierce, at the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute. Address correspondence to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

A great many women who have taken advantage of Dr. Pierce's offer of free consultation by letter, have expressed their gratification at being able to escape in this way the indelicate questionings, the offensive examinations and obnoxious local treatments, considered necessary by some local practitioners. Dr. Pierce's wide experience and wonderful success in the treatment and cure of womanly diseases, enables him to obtain accurate knowledge of diseases by the written statement. In a little over thirty years, assisted by his staff of nearly a score of physicians, Dr. Pierce, chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., has treated and cured hundreds of thousands of weak and sickly women.

The dealer who offers a substitute for "Favorite Prescription" as "just as good" does so to obtain the little more profit paid by the sale of less meritorious preparations. Accept no substitute for "Favorite Prescription," the medicine which makes weak women strong and sick women well.

WHAT MISS GREER THINKS.

"I think that your 'Adviser' is a fine book," writes Miss Flora I. Greer, of 107 Howe Street, Akron, Ohio, "and a book that everyone should own. If more girls would read it instead of trashy novels there would be healthier women and children than there are to-day."

The book referred to is Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. It contains 1008 large pages and over 700 illustrations, and is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send 31 one-cent stamps for the cloth-bound volume, or only 21 stamps for the book in paper-covers. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

20 Years of Vile Catarrh.

Chas. O. Mrs. J. B. Robenolt, a resident of Lloyd's addition, Loyalsock township, while in the Williamsport hospital, getting ready for an operation, was discovered Tuesday to have the smallpox. The case is a mild one. Rigid quarantine measures were at once instituted to prevent the disease from spreading. Later on the woman was taken to her home.

CARNEGIE INSTITUTION.

Trustees Held a Meeting at the State department.

MR. CARNEGIE'S DEED OF GIFT

It Was Presented by Himself and in So Doing He Made an Address, in Which He Outlined Purposes of the Institution.

SOME EXTRACTS FROM THE DEED

WASHINGTON, January 30.—An adjourned meeting of the trustees of the Carnegie Institution was held at the state department yesterday afternoon and a long step was taken towards permanent organization and the initiation of the work of the institution. Abram S. Hewitt, of New York, called the meeting to order and Secretary Hay was elected temporary chairman. William E Dodge, of New York, was elected to the board to fill a vacancy caused by the declination of ex-President Cleveland, who sent a letter regretting his inability to serve.

After the roll call, Mr. Andrew Carnegie made a brief address, presenting the deed of gift. He said:

"I beg to thank you deeply for so promptly, so cordially aiding me by acceptance of trusteeship. A note from the president congratulates me upon 'the high character, indeed I may say the extraordinarily high character, of the trustees'—such are his words. I believe this estimate has been generally approved throughout the wide boundary of the United States.

"My first thought was to fulfill the expressed wish of Washington by establishing a university here, but a study of the question forced me to the conclusion that under present conditions were Washington still with us, his finely balanced judgment would decide that in our generation, at least, such use of wealth would not be the best.

"Gentlemen, your work begins, your aims are high; you seek to extend unknown forces and to discover and utilize new forces for the benefit of man. Than this there can scarcely be any greater work. I wish you abundant success and venture to prophesy that through your efforts, in co operation with those of kindred societies in our country, contributions to the advancement of the race through research will compare in the near future not unfavorably with those of any other land. Again I thank you."

The deed itself recites in substance; as follows:

That Andrew Carnegie deems it his duty and highest privilege to administer the wealth which has come to him as a trustee in behalf of others, and entertaining the belief that the best means of discharging that trust is by extending the opportunities for study and research in our country, he transfers to the trustees named ten millions of registered 5 per cent. bonds of the United States Steel Corporation. This gift is to be held in trust, the income from the bonds or from other securities that may be substituted for them to be applied to paying the expenses of such trustees, who are to receive the bonds collect the interest and may sell the same and invent the proceeds according to the laws of New York, Pennsylvania and Masseachusetts, and who are not made responsible for the safety of the bonds or for their depreciation. They appoint officers, fixing their salaries, and provide for the financial business of the trust. The income to be expended in founding in Washington an institution to co-operate with those now or hereafter established and in the broadest and most liberal manner encourage investigation, research and discovery, show the application of knowledge to the improvement of mankind, provide such buildings, laboratories, books and apparatus as may be needed, and afford instruction of an advanced character to students properly qualified to profit thereby. Unexpected income may be kept in a reserve fund to defray the cost of buildings. By a two-thirds vote the trustees may modify these conditions, in accordance with the original purpose, which is "To secure if possible for the United States of America leadership in the domain of discovery and the utilization of new forces for the benefit of man."

After accepting the deed of gift the trustees proceeded to adopt by-laws and then elected the following officers:

Vice Chairman—Dr. J. S. Biddings.

Secretary—Charles D. Walcott.

Dr. Daniel C. Gilman, late of Johns Hopkins University, was elected president of the Carnegie Institution. The board then adjourned to meet to-morrow morning.

—Mr. and Mrs. Morris Furey, of Bellefonte; H. W. D. English, and Rev. The English family is originally from Milroy, and frequently passed through Centre Hall on the old Lewistown-Bellefonte turnpike when it was the main thoroughfare in this section. The lady always said that if she ever became able to live retired, she wanted to locate in Centre Hall, and her ideas were brought to a finish by their coming here Monday, buying a home, which she will occupy after April 1st. The home purchased was the McCulley property, which will be remodeled and made to look modern. Mr. English, with his friends, Rev. Ferris, intend spending part of the summer months in this place. But who is Mr. English? A Thousand Dollars Thrown Away.

Mr. W. W. Baker, of Plainview, Neb., writes: "My wife had lung trouble for over fifteen years. We tried a number of doctors and spent over a thousand dollars without any relief. She was very low and I lost all hope, when a friend suggested trying Foley's Honey and Tar, which I did; and thanks be to this great remedy it saved her life. A Great Experience With a Bear.

Adam Yocum, a farmer living in Sugar Valley, started with his faithful dog and shot gun on Thursday afternoon to hunt foxes. He had not gone far until his dog trailed a fox and was after it for dear life, when all of a sudden he turned around and ran back to Mr. Yocum as fast as his legs could bring him. Mr. Yocum knew something was wrong as the dog never did anything of the kind before, and started to see what was the matter. He had not far to go, for all at once he came face to face with a great big "Mr. Bear," who had started back after the dog, thinking he would make a good meal.

Mr. Yocum immediately opened fire, and emptied both barrels of his shot gun into the bear, which did'nt seem to have much effect. He then began clubbing with the butt of his gun which broke off at the barrel, and the only thing left to do was to grapple with the brute. He made a grab for him and when he did, his dog also started for him. Mr. Yocum left the dog and bear at it for a minute, until he got the barrel of his gun, when he struck him a fierce blow on the head and killed him. It is one of the largest bears killed this season, and weighed 300 pounds.

The Last Heard of it.

"My little boy took the croup one night and soon grew so bad you could hear him breathe all over the house," says F. D. Reynolds, Mansfield, O. "We feared he would die, but a few doses of One Minute Cough Cure quickly relieved him and he went to sleep. That's the last we heard of the croup. Now isn't a cough cure like that valuable?" One Minute Cough Cure is absolutely safe and acts immediately. For coughs, colds, croup, grip, bronchitis and all other throat and lung troubles it is a certain cure. Very pleasant to take. The little ones like it. C. M. Parrish.

Kodol Digests what you Eat
Dyspepsia Cure

You might as well put fuel under a boiler without burning it and expect the engine to run, as to eat food and not digest it and expect to keep up nourishment for your body. You must have nourishment to live and when you cannot digest your food, KODOL DYSPEPSIA CURE will do it for you, with no aid whatever from the stomach. It contains exactly the same elements as Nature's digestive fluids and can't help but produce the same results.—David Taylor, Blind Ridge, Pa., writes:—"I have been afflicted for a number of years with dyspepsia and have tried various remedies without good results but was cured by one bottle of KODOL DYSPEPSIA CURE. I cannot say too much in its favor."

It can't help but do you good

EDITORIAL.

DURING the first eight days that the present Congress was in session, 7,632 bills were introduced in the House. During the first few days of the last session of the Pennsylvania Legislature there were said to have been several hundred thousand $ bills introduced in the House.

ITALIAN statistics show that the emigration to America has reached the figure of 160,000 annually. We are disposed to believe that the application of the Chinese Exclusion medicine to continental Europe, for a period at least, would be productive of beneficial results to our domains.

THE statement made by Mayor Ashbridge that the Philadelphia city government would not officially participate in the reception and entertainment of Prince Henry of Prussia upon the occasion of his forthcoming five hours' visit to the city of Penn, impels us to remark that such being the situation His Royal Highness need not hesitate about bringing with him his valuables. All danger has been removed by the announcement of the Mayor.

THE rumor that A. E. Patton, of Curwensville, will be a candidate for State Senator, subject to the decision of the district Republican conference, is still stirring up a breeze in political circles. Now if Mr. Patton is in the field—we have no direct knowledge on the subject—he evidently has the support of his own county cinched. Clinton has no candidate, and according to a leading Republican journal of that county, her conferees will be for Patton. Will some one kindly inform us what then will become of the two senatorial boomlets from Centre?

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our regular correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5th, 1902.

The Philippine revenue bill is still before the Senate and there seems to be a concerted effort on the democratic side of the chamber to delay its passage. What the democrats have to gain by filibustering is not apparent unless they are hoping to embrass Secretary Root and the Philippine Commission, nevertheless that appears to be their policy. So foreign to the question have been the discussions of some of the senators in speeches supposed to be germane to the measure that Senator Hoar recently suggested that the Senate "consider the life and character of Mary Queen of Scots." Senator Lodge has not attempted to press the passage because he first desired that the Philippine Committee have an opportunity of listening to such testimony as Governor Taft might have to offer. The Governor's statements have all supported the contention of the administration that peace is being rapidly established and that, with the funds necessary to carry on the public improvements required in the island, the last vestige of the insurrection will disappear. Without the building of good roads, however, some of the brigands in the more inaccessible portions are likely to make trouble for some time to come.

The Senate has passed a bill providing for the establishment of a Department of Commerce and Labor and favorable action is expected in the House. Particularly is this assured because the House has already passed a measure making the census bureau permanent, a feature which is practically incorporated in the Senate's measure. The republican senators have determined upon a program for the remainder of the session which provides that the Philippine tariff bill, the isthmian canal bill, the Phillippine government bill, the subsidy bill and the Cuban reciprocity bill shall be considered in the order named.

Senator Cullom recently delivered a speech setting forth his views in regard to the treaty making powers of the Senate and the Executive in which he claimed that the provision in the Dingley bill relating to treaties was u constitutional because it had a tendency to limit the powers conferred on the Senate by the constitution. An attempt was made by Mr. Richardson, the democratic leader in the House, to make trouble between the Senate and the House in regard to this matter by the appointment of a committee to investigate the powers of the Senate, but the superior judgment of the republican leaders prevailed.

The Ways and Mean's Committee has determined upon the abolition of the special war taxes and the democratic press has been industriously engaged in an attempt to place the members of the Committee in a wrong light before the people. When asked for an interview on the subject, Chairman Payne handed to your correspondent a statement which is too long for reproduction here, but which says, in part, that the Committee had no thought of disposing of the Cuban question by reporting in favor of the reduction of the war taxes, that the Committee had had no conference on the Cuban matter, and that "the bill to reduce war revenue taxes was taken up because it was the sentiment of the committee that the burdens resting upon our own people should be lightened before we turned our attention to lightening the burden of other people." Mr. Payne futher assures me that the Cuban matter will receive full and careful consideration before a decision is reached and that it will be considered at an early date.

Congressman John F. Lacey, of Iowa, Chairman of the Committee on Public Lands gives me the following explanation of his bill, introduced to carry out the suggestion made in the President's message in regard to forest reserves. "In an opinion given by the Attorney General, January 3, 1902, he holds that Congress has practically unlimited jurisdiction for all purposes over forest reserves, even where they are situated in a state. The bill, following the lines of the opinion of the Attorney General, provides 1st: That the forest reserves may be transferred from the Department of the Interior to the Department of Agriculture by an executive order of the President, in asmuch as the boundaries of many of these reserves are in controversy only such reserves are to be transferred as the Secretary of the Interior and the Directors of the Geological Survey will certify to have had their boundaries substantially settled. The President is to be authorized to set apart such forest reserves or part thereof as he may deem proper for fish and game preserves, but if, the reserve is wholly in one state, the President shall not make such order until the Governor of the State shall, in writing, ask for it. In the territories he can create such game preserves without the action of the Governor of the territory. The purpose of this was to avoid forcing any of these preserves on states where they are not wanted by the local authorities. The bill provides that the Department of the Interior, or of Agriculture, as the case may be, having such game preserves in its control, may make all regulations necessary for game protection therein. Such regulations shall have the force and effect of law, and a violation of them will be a misdemeanor. All nets, tackle, guns, etc, used in violation of the law in one of these preserves will be forfeited on conviction of the party using the same. It also provides that forest officers may arrest, without warrant, persons found violating the law in preserves. The reason for making the transfer to the Department of Agriculture is because that Department can better administer the permanent forest reserves than the Department of the Interior. The traditions and the organization of the Department of the Interior in relation to the Public lands has in view the disposition of the lands, their sale and transfer to private parties. The Secretary of Agriculture has a fully equipped Bureau of Forestry and is better prepared to administer these reserves than the department in which they are now situated, but it was thought best, in framing the bill not to provide for the transfer of any of the preserves except such as have their boundaries definitely established. The Secretary of the Interior settles more questions of private right in amount and value in one year than the Supreme Court of the United States does in ten years. That Department is overloaded with work and when one of these reserves is definitely located and established as a permanent reserve, the President and both Secretaries believed that the Department of Agriculture should have it to care for."

THE artist who submits the best design for a symbol or emblem of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition, to be held at St. Louis next year, will receive $2,500. The competition is free to all and an open field and no favor assured.

—One day last week Miss Mollie, the 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Funk, of Cresson, was walking over the Pennsylvania railroad culvert near the passenger station at that place, when she slipped on the icy coping. Seeing that she would drop to the road, some twenty feet below, she wisely turned the fall into a jump, and thus threw herself beyond the projecting stones of the abutment below, escaping with the fracture of both ankles and some bruises about the body.

His Method.

The little girl who was visiting at a neighbor's house had gone out to look at the horses.

"Here's one of them," she said, "that has watery eyes and coughs and hangs his head just the way papa's horse did last summer."

"What did your papa do for his horse?" asked the owner of the animals.

"He sold him," was the innocent answer.—Pearson's Weekly.

A HARD PROPOSITION

SCIENTIFIC EXPLANATION OF THE FOURTH DIMENSION.

To the Lay Mind It Would Appear as Though This Measure of Space Were the Ability to Disappear Through Stone Walls.

Suppose a world consisting of a boundless flat plane to be inhabited by reasoning beings who can move about at pleasure on the plane, but are not able to turn their heads up or down or even to see or think of such terms as above them and below them, and things around them can be pushed or pulled about in any direction, but cannot be lifted from the plane. People and things can pass around each other, but cannot step over anything. These dwellers in "flatland" could construct a plane geometry which would be exactly like ours in being based on the axioms of Euclid. Two parallel straight lines would never meet, though continued indefinitely.

But suppose that the surface on which these beings live, instead of being an infinitely extended plane, is really the surface of an immense globe like the earth on which we live. It needs no knowledge of geometry, but only an examination of any globular object—an apple, for example—to show that if we draw a line as straight as possible on a sphere and parallel to it draw a small piece of a second line, and continue this in as straight a line as we can, the two lines will meet when we proceed in either direction one-quarter of the way around the sphere. For our "flatland" people these lines would both be perfectly straight because the only curvature would be in the direction downward, which they could never either perceive or discover.

To explain hypergeometry proper we must first set forth what a fourth dimension of space means and show how natural the way by which it may be approached. We continue our analogy from "flatland." In this supposed land let us make a cross—two straight lines intersecting at right angles. The inhabitants of this land understand the cross perfectly and conceive of it just as we do. But let us ask them to draw a third line intersecting the same point and perpendicular to both the other lines. They would at once pronounce this absurd and impossible. It is equally absurd and impossible to us if we require the third line to be drawn on the paper. But we would reply, "If you allow us to leave the paper or flat surface, then we can solve the problem by simply drawing the third line through the paper perpendicular to its surface."

Now, to pursue the analogy, suppose that after we have drawn three mutually perpendicular lines some being from another sphere proposes to us the drawing of a fourth line through the same point perpendicular to all three of the lines already there. We should answer him in the same way that the inhabitants of "flatland" answered us: "The problem is impossible. You cannot draw any such line in space as we understand it." If our visitor conceived of the fourth dimension, he would reply to us as we replied to the "flatland" people: "The problem is absurd and impossible if you confine your line to space as you understand it. But for me there is a fourth dimension in space. Draw your line through that dimension, and the problem will be solved. This is perfectly simple to me; it is impossible to you solely because your conceptions do not admit of more than three dimensions."

Supposing the inhabitants of "flatland" to be intellectual beings as we are, it would be interesting to them to be told what dwellers of space in three dimensions could do. Let us pursue the analogy by showing what dwellers in four dimensions might do. Place a dweller of "flatland" inside a circle drawn on his plane and ask him to step outside of it without breaking through it. He would go all around, and, finding every inch of it closed, he would say it was impossible from the very nature of the conditions. "But," we would reply, "that is because of your limited conceptions. We can step over it."

"Step over it!" he would exclaim. "I do not know what that means. I can pass around anything if there is a way open, but I cannot imagine what you mean by stepping over it."

But we should simply step over the line and reappear on the other side. So if we confine a being able to move in a fourth dimension in the walls of a dungeon of which the sides, the floor and the ceiling were all impenetrable he would step outside of it without touching any part of the building just as easily as we could step over a circle drawn on the plane without touching it. He would simply disappear from our view like a spirit and perhaps reappear the next moment outside the prison. To do this he would have to make a little excursion in the fourth dimension.—Professor Simon Newcomb in Harper's Magazine.

His Maiden Name.

It is said that at certain seasons in Scotland when the fishing is not very brisk the fishermen act as caddies and are easily recognized by their costume, a woolen jersey and trousers braced up to the armpits. One of these was asked his name by the gentleman for whom he was carrying, and the reply was, "Weel, sir, hereabouts they maistly ca' me Breeks, but ma maiden name is Broon."

—Sorrow that is drowned in drink will come back to haunt you.

A COMEDIAN'S TRICK.

Ruse by Which He Escaped Arrest and Had His Debts Paid.

Many amusing stories are told of Joe Haines, a comedian of the time of Charles II., sometimes called "Count" Haines. It is said that he was arrested one morning by two bailiffs for a debt of £20, when he saw a bishop to whom he was related passing along in his coach. With ready resource he immediately saw a loophole for escape, and, turning to the men, he said, "Let me speak to his lordship, to whom I am well known, and he will pay the debt and your charges into the bargain."

The bailiffs thought they might venture this, as they were within two or three yards of the coach, and acceded to the request. Joe boldly advanced and took off his hat to the bishop. His lordship ordered the coach to stop, when Joe whispered to the divine that the two men were suffering from such scruples of conscience that he feared they would hang themselves, suggesting that his lordship should invite them to his house and promise to satisfy them. The bishop agreed, and, calling to the bailiffs, he said, "You two men come to me tomorrow morning, and I will satisfy you."

The men bowed and went away pleased, and early the next day waited on his lordship, who, when they were ushered in, said, "Well, my men, what are these scruples of conscience?"

"Scruples?" replied one of them. "We have no scruples! We are bailiffs, my lord, who yesterday arrested your cousin, Joe Haines, for a debt of £20, and your lordship kindly promised to satisfy us."

The trick was strange, but the result was stranger, for his lordship, either appreciating its cleverness or considering himself bound by the promise he had unintentionally given, there and then settled with the men in full.

THE BULGARIAN.

A Peculiar Fellow. He Is Either a Soldier or a Peasant.

It is a strange country of contrasts, this Bulgaria that people have so long watched as a danger spot. The peasant is a heavily built fellow, with a Kalmuk nose if he happens to be pure bred from the original Samoyede stock, which is not likely. His language has become Slavic, which means a language in which "beefsteak" is "mpiphteki" and "omelet souffle" is "omlet cuphle."

The Bulgarian is a peasant or a soldier. He knows no other trade. As a farmer the sheep is all in all to him, food and clothing and companionship, says a writer in The Era. He lives in a hovel, does not understand why he should be taxed and makes his women slave in the field. He is called close-fisted, churlish and suspicious and has some of the virtues that often go with those qualities.

When Bulgaria became practically free of the sultan, there were many Turks left in the country. These are gradually being crowded out, but there is still a mosque in Christian Sofia, and in the palace of the sobranje, or parliament, where the members have better accommodations than the lords of Britain on the Thames embankment, some twenty Turkish deputies always sit together and exert an influence that they never could do in their own land by voting always with the party in power.

Every Saturday the members of the sobranje are paid at the rate of 15 francs a day, all in silver five franc pieces. These peasant lawmakers knot it up in handkerchiefs, grin slowly and shake the jingling pieces playfully in one another's face. They are playing at statesmanship yet, but fairly well upon the whole.

Functions of Fruit.

The Medicine Brief thus summarizes the various uses of fruit in relieving diseased conditions of the body. The list is worth keeping: Under the category of laxatives, oranges, figs, tamarinds, prunes, mulberries, dates, nectarines and plums may be included. Pomegranates, cranberries, blackberries, sumac berries, dewberries, raspberries, barberries, quinces, pears, wild cherries and medlars are astringents. Grapes, peaches, strawberries, whortleberries, prickly pears, black currants and melon seeds are diuretics. Gooseberries, red and white currants, pumpkins and melons are refrigerants. Lemons, limes and apples are stomachic sedatives.

The Rest Cure.

Quiet and warmth are the medicines of the four footed philosopher. If a dog is ailing, he rolls himself into a ball in a warm corner and eats little or nothing till he is well. Many times rest is the only medicine needed by the sick, but we seldom follow this example. The biped loses the instinct of the animal. He fumes, frets, takes stimulants and medicaments and gives no chance to the recuperative forces of nature.—Philadelphia Record.

Happy Coincidence.

Mrs. Hifly—Is Mrs. Swagger at home?

Servant—No, ma'am. She went out to call on you.

Mrs. Hifly—How very fortunate for us both!—Boston Post.

—In church circles Sunday was Candlemas Day. It is observed in the Roman Catholic church as a memorial of the Purification of the Virgin Mary, who then presented the infant Saviour in the temple, as an offering to Jehovah in accordance with the Mosaic law. From the number of candles lit (it is said in memory of Simeon's prophetic song, Luke ii, 32, "a Light to lighten the Gentiles," etc.), the festival was called Candlemas as well as the Purification.

A Mad Dog at Salona.

Tuesday morning between 7 and 9 o'clock a black mad dog came tearing down the pike from the direction of Flat Rock, says the Lock Haven Democrat.

In Salona he made it very interesting for several residents. Mrs. W. J. Eddy was jumped at by the canine, but his teeth only fastened themselves in her skirts. Mrs. Eddy shook the dog off and he continued down the road.

John Thompson saw the animal frothing at the mouth and with wild, glaring eyes coming. The dog jumped at him, but his teeth did not pierce the gentleman's flesh, he being too heavily clothed. Mr. Thompson finally kicked the dog away.

As the canine continued on his course he snapped at Charles Walizer, Michael Lupane, a little girl and several other residents. He did not bite any of them, his teeth only tearing their clothing. He, however, bit a chicken.

When the dog left Salona word was 'phoned to A. C. Mann. That gentleman sent Charles Miller out on the road with a gun. Mr. Miller soon saw the animal coming towards the town. He up with the gun, pulled the trigger and laid the dog low. He killed him at the first shot. Where the dog came from is not known.

—Electricity is fast coming to the aid of the overworked typewriter. Typewriting has become such an important matter in all large commercial houses, in almost every county in the world, except Turkey—where the machines are excluded by the Sultan, because they are manufactured in the United States—that the application of motive power, for the purpose of increasing efficiency, will be welcomed. In the new electrical device the physical force is supplied by an electric current, acting through a magnet. The operator works with more rapidity; for the keys fall to one-third the depth, with one tenth the pressure required on the modern machine. It is claimed that the electricity will secure uniformity of the writing, and the light action will make it possible for the manipulator to use all his fingers. An increased current will print a dozen manifold copies with equal ease.

—Small men with small purposes do not help to make towns or cities lively and progressive. To forge ahead as a community there must be plenty of push and plenty of generosity among the people, not the middle class and poor alone, but the rich people also. There must be a spirit of generosity abroad in the land and the spirit of pinch must be relegated to the rear. We must look at things in this way. What ever helps the town helps the people in it. Whatever keeps the town back keeps all who have livings to make in the rear.

—Anderson Conway, of Frenchville, informs the Raftsman's Journal that in around Deer Creek things look like the days of the seventies when timber was at the high-water mark. Mr. Conway has a camp located on the land of the Leconte heirs where he is just now keeping 19 teams and that many drivers who are hauling 14 rafts of timber to the river for the spring floods. In this number there are twelve round log rafts and two rafts of good square timber. Besides this Mr. Conway is putting in 200,000 logs for the drive.

RICE WATER NUTRITIOUS.

Curious Way Some British Officers Discovered This Fact.

It is probable that few occidental cooks who prepare rice in various forms for diet are aware that in discarding the water in which it is boiled they are wasting what is regarded by the oriental as the most nutritious part of the food. This fact was curiously proved some years since when a detachment of Europeans and native troops in India found themselves beleaguered in a fort with insufficient rations, even of rice, to enable them to hold out until a force could march to their relief.

It was when the officers were seriously debating this problem that the natives approached them with what was regarded as a curious solution of the difficulty. If, proposed the latter, the Europeans took all the rice, they, the natives, would be quite content with the water in which it was boiled. The suggestion, in place of any better, was adopted, when it was remarked that while the Europeans found it difficult to maintain their strength on full rations of rice the natives lost none of their stamina by several weeks' diet on the water. When the proposal was made, the action of the natives was praised as one of great devotion to their superiors, but the sentiment was somewhat mollified when the discovery was made that the natives were quite aware that the principal nourishment lay in the water.

Since that time Europeans in the orient, following the custom of the natives, have given rice water to patients, particularly in cases of cholera, as a last resort when no other food can be retained in the stomach and usually with good results. But the natives always value this water so highly that it is never thrown away.

In fact, it would surprise many cooks to discover how much may be done with this apparently worthless stock. If the rice is cooked in the oriental fashion—that is, boiled only so long that each grain comes out of the pan separate and not as a sodden mass—the water when strained off and permitted to cool will become a jelly approaching the consistency of blancmange. To suit the occidental palate the water should be flavored with an extract or otherwise the jelly may have rather an insipid taste.

Sheep In Varied Clothing.

One of the results of the investigation of a special committee of the Society of Arts into the question of bookbinding goes to show that sheepskin is often used by bookbinders under very different names. They found books bound nominally in Levant morocco, hard grain morocco, straight grain morocco, pigskin, calfskin, crocodile and alligator leathers, all of which on close microscopic examination were found to be the ordinary common sheepskin on which had been stamped the special grains and markings of the skins they were got up to imitate. The committee, however, were satisfied that in many cases both the bookbinders and the librarians had bought these leathers under the impression that they were buying the genuine article.—London Globe.

How Russian Peasants Live.

Most of the Russian peasants pass a great deal of their lives in workshops, where they work, eat and sleep, the same room sheltering a number and probably a pig in the bargain. There are few beds. Instead, all around the four walls of the room is fixed what may be literally described as a bench. It is made of wood, and at this works the peasant by day, and on it he sleeps by night, each man at his own spot. The conditions of the Russian workshop or factory and the Russian prison and military barracks, so far as interior arrangements are concerned, are akin. Chairs there will also be and a table, rudely fashioned, as a rule, by the men themselves.—Saturday Review.

Twentieth Century Medicine.

The twentieth century has almost a free field in medicine. Although much has been accomplished in the treatment of diseases, the science is still largely experimental, and there is room for a host of discoveries. Perhaps by the time this century is ended there will be a lymph or an antitoxin or some sort of treatment for every ill the flesh is heir to, so that a few vaccinations and other treatments will guarantee immunity for a long period. Then centenarians will be as common as blackberries and a man will be young at eighty. —Philadelphia Inquirer.

THE POINT OF THE JOKE.

It Was Difficult For the Englishman, but He Finally Saw It.

A party of Englishmen were in Chicago sightseeing some time ago. They were entertained at dinner by some Chicago Englishmen who have lived in America long enough to have a keen appreciation of the American idea of a joke. During the evening all the members of the party told stories or sung songs and entertained according to their several abilities.

One of the English visitors could see nothing funny in the stories told by the Chicago Englishmen. Every time one of them would tell a good American story at which most of the party would laugh uproariously this particular Englishman would adjust his monocle to his eye and, looking wonderingly around the table, would remark, "But, I say, I don't see anything in that to laugh at, y' knaw."

One of the Chicago men finally recited an original poem. The poem told of an Englishman who had come to America and after being in this country only a short time had died and gone to another and much warmer country. Ten years passed, and one day an imp passing that way heard the Englishman laughing uproariously.

"Why, what are you laughing at?" inquired the imp.

"Oh, oh, oh, such a funny story as I heard in America! Oh, it was so funny!" laughed the victim, and he held his hands to his side and almost doubled up with merriment.

"A story you heard! Why, you've heard no story," said the imp. "You've been dead ten years."

"Yes, yes, I know, I know," cried the man. "But I've just seen the joke."

This poem set the table in a roar. Amid all the laughing and shouting the obtuse visitor adjusted his monocle and drawled out, "But, I say, I don't see anything funny in that, y' knaw."

"No," replied the man who had read the poem as quick as a flash. "Of course you don't. You haven't been dead ten years." And even the obtuse Englishman saw the point.—Chicago Tribune.

Southey on Wordsworth.

Of Wordsworth, Southey writes in 1808, says Harold S. Scott in The Atlantic: "He has written a masterly poem called 'The White Doe of Rilston Hall; or, The Fate of the Nortons.' The poem is incomparably fine. It would amuse you to hear how he talks of his own production. His entire and intense selfishness exceeds anything you could have conceived. I am more amused at it than offended; not being sufficiently attached to him to feel pain at perceiving his faults, and yet respecting him far too much on the average of his qualities to be disgusted. It is so pure and unmixed a passion in him that Ben Jonson would have had him in a play had he been his contemporary."

A Burst of Generosity.

A man from Dunedin once visited the town of Wellington. An Irish friend insisted upon this visitor staying at his house instead of at a hotel, and kept him there for a month, playing the host in detail, even to treating him to the theatres and other amusements, paying all the cab fares and the rest. When the visitor was returning to Dunedin the Irishman saw him down to the steamer, and they went into the saloon to have the parting drink.

"What'll you have?" asked the host continuing his hospitality to the very last.

"Now, look here," said the man from Dunedin, "I'll hae nae mair o' this. Here you've been keepin' me at yer hoose for a month and payin' for a' the theatres an' cabs an' drinks—I tell ye I'll stan' nae mair o' it! We'll just hae a toss for this one!"—Scotsman.

LIFE'S UPS AND DOWNS.

The Magnificent Revenge of a Governor of Missouri.

While Robert Stewart was governor of Missouri a steamboat man was brought in from the penitentiary as an applicant for a pardon. He was a large, powerful fellow, and when the governor looked at him he seemed strangely affected. He scrutinized him long and closely. Finally he signed the document that restored the prisoner to liberty. Before he handed it to him he said, "You will commit some other crime and be in the penitentiary again, I fear."

The man solemnly promised that he would not. The governor looked doubtful, mused a few minutes and said:

"You will go back on the river and be a mate again, I suppose?"

The man replied that he would.

"Well, I want you to promise me one thing," resumed the governor. "I want you to pledge your word that when you are mate again you will never take a billet of wood in your hand and drive a sick boy out of a bunk to help you load your boat on a stormy night."

The steamboat man said he would not and inquired what the governor meant by asking him such a question.

The governor replied: "Because some day that boy may become a governor, and you may want him to pardon you for a crime. One dark, stormy night, many years ago, you stopped your boat on the Mississippi river to take on a load of wood. There was a boy on board who was working his passage from New Orleans to St. Louis, but he was very sick of fever and was lying in a bunk. You had plenty of men to do the work, but you went to that boy with a stick of wood in your hand and drove him with blows and curses out into the wretched night and kept him toiling like a slave until the load was completed. I was that boy. Here is your pardon. Never again be guilty of such brutality."

The man, cowering and hiding his face, went out without a word.

What a noble revenge that was and what a lesson to a bully!—Success.

PRANKS OF CUPID.

Celebrated Men Who Married Their Domestic Servants.

Many celebrated men have married their domestic servants. Sir Henry Parkes, premier of New South Wales, is an example. One night when dining at a friend's house he was struck by the appearance of a servant girl who waited upon the table and persuaded his host to allow her to enter his employ. This she did and for a short time held the position of cook in Sir Henry's household. Then he made her Lady Parkes.

But more illustrious than this is the case of Peter the Great. One day he was dining at the house of Prince Menshikoff. He noticed one of the servant maids particularly, and, though she was not handsome, she caught his fancy. Her name, the prince told the czar, was Martha. She had been a servant in the house of a Lutheran minister of Marienburg, and when that city was captured by the troops of Russia she had been taken prisoner by General Bauer, who had passed her over to the prince, whose servant she was. The count politely made a present of her to the czar, who eventually married her.

William Cobbett, the great writer, when he was only twenty-one years of age one morning chanced to see a buxom servant girl busily engaged in washing the family linen. The girl was pretty, so Cobbett spoke to her, learned her name and the same evening called upon her parents and said he would like to marry their daughter. The parents of the girl informed the young man that they had no objections to him as their son-in-law, but that he would have to wait until their daughter was of a marriageable age. Five years later Cobbett, true to his early love, married her.

—A traveling man who drove across the country to a little town in Western Kansas the other day met a farmer hauling a wagonload of water. "Where do you get water?" "Up the road about seven miles," the farmer replied. "And you haul water seven miles for your family and stock?" "Yep." "Why in the name of sense don't you dig a well?' asked the traveler. "Because it's just as far one way as the other, stranger."

HOW THE CHINESE GET RAIN

Peculiar Practices In Vogue In the Celestial Kingdom.

It is one of the peculiarities of the Chinese that, while they have developed elaborate philosophies, none of them has led to any confidence in the uniformity of nature. Neither the people nor their rulers have any fixed opinion as to the causes of rainfall. The plan in some provinces when the need of rain is felt is to borrow a god from a neighboring district and petition him for the desired rain. If his answer is satisfactory, he is returned to his home with every mark of honor; otherwise he may be put out in the sun as a hint to wake up and do his duty. A bunch of willow is usually thrust into his hand, as willow is sensitive to moisture.

Another plan in extensive use is the building of special temples in which are wells containing several iron tablets. When there is a scarcity of rain, a messenger starts out with a tablet marked with the date of the journey and the name of the district making the petition. Arriving at another city, he pays a sum of money and is allowed to draw a new tablet from the well, throwing in his own by way of exchange. On the return journey he is supposed to eat only bran and travel at top speed day and night. Sometimes he passes through districts as greatly in need of rain as his own. Then the people in these places waylay him and, temporarily borrowing his tablet, get the rain intended for another place.

Prayers are usually made in the fifth and sixth months when the rainfall is always due, and a limit of ten days is set for their effective operation. Under such conditions rain usually falls during the prescribed time. When the prayers are in progress, the umbrella, among other objects, comes under the ban. In some provinces foreigners have been mobbed for carrying this harmless article at that time.

TALKING TO ONESELF.

Soliloquies Are Rare Because We Fear They Mean Madness.

Talking to oneself has this obvious advantage over any other form of oratory or gossip: One is assured of a sympathetic audience. But it has also this peculiar drawback: It is supposed to be one of the early symptoms of insanity. Wrongly so perhaps. A mad doctor might rule the habit out of his diagnosis. Nevertheless the popular belief is firmly rooted, and it is for fear of this belief doubtless that we talk to ourselves even as we dress our hair with straws so rarely.

It may be said that we never do address ourselves at any length except in the delirium of a fever. In moments of ordinary excitement of course we utter to the wind some sort of appropriate ejaculation. Delight wrings from us a cry of "Hurrah!" or "Thank heaven!" even though there be none by to echo us. Similarly in any disgust we emit one of those sounds whose rather poor equivalents in print are "Ugh!" and "Faugh!" and "Tut!" Much further than this we do not go. "Why, what an ass am I!" cries Hamlet in one of his soliloquies. Omitting the first word and transposing the last two, the ordinary modern man does often soliloquize to that extent. But he could no more soliloquize to Hamlet's extent than he could speak in decasyllabics.

Nor is there any reason to suppose that that class of the community with which, contemptuous of his own fluency, Hamlet compared himself is or ever was more prone to soliloquize than any other. In the matter of soliloquies we cannot accept Hamlet as an unbiased authority. We merely find in him the possible origin of the belief that talking to oneself is a bad sign.—Saturday Review.

Why Big Fish Get Away.

It is perfectly plain that large fish are more apt to escape than small ones. Their weight and activity, combined with the increased trickiness and resourcefulness of age and experience, of course greatly increase their ability to tear out the hook and enhance the danger that their antics will expose a fatal weakness in hook, leader, line or rod. Another presumption which must be regretfully mentioned arises from the fact that in many cases it is the encounter with a large fish which causes such excitement and such distraction or perversion of judgment as leads the fisherman to do the wrong thing or fail to do the right thing at the critical instant.—Grover Cleveland in Saturday Evening Post.

Jenny Lind and the Trill.

Jenny Lind, after years of steady practice, believed that the much coveted trill was for her an impossibility. She practiced hours a day, but was unable to accomplish the feat. One day, thoroughly discouraged, she was sitting in her garden when all at once she looked up into a tree. Above her a bird was trilling. She at once went to her piano and through some magic or power of imitation began the trill and from that day never had any further difficulty.

Plain Tapioca Pudding.

Soak four tablespoonfuls of tapioca over night in water to cover. Drain in the morning, add a quart of sweet milk to it and put in the double boiler or a pail set in a kettle of hot water on the stove. Boil until creamy, stirring occasionally. Add a cupful of cream and half a cupful of sugar. Beat the yolks of four eggs and stir in with the flavoring of lemon, orange or vanilla. Turn into a pudding mold or pan and bake three-quarters of an hour. About ten minutes before taking from the oven beat the whites of the eggs to a stiff meringue with four tablespoonfuls of pulverized sugar. Draw the pudding to the edge of the oven and pile the meringue carefully on top. Set back, leaving the oven door partially opened if too warm, and dry slowly until a thick golden glaze. Wanted the Small-pox.

OMAHA, Neb., February 4.—Clarence Falle, a well known young man of this city, is in the pest house with a well developed case of small-pox, brought on by him deliberately. For some time the young man has told his friends that he intended to expose himself to the disease just to see how it felt to have small-pox. Recently in passing a house he saw the small-pox sign on the door, and, obtaining entrance, went to the sick chamber. A few days later he was taken sick and physicians pronounced the disease small-pox. He was sent to the pest house, where he has been for two weeks. He is now convalescent and expects to be released from the hospital in a few days.

The city physician and city attorney have agreed to bring suit against the young man for the expenses incurred in treating the disease, together with a bill for board for the three weeks he will have spent at the city's expense.

—Many housekeepers think that to turn down a lamp saves oil. In point of fact, it does nothing of the kind. The same amount of oil is consumed, only that which is not burned in a flame passes off as gas. You can notice this at once on entering a room where a lamp had been turned low for any length of time. Besides the disagreeable odor the gas is most injurious to flowers or plants that may be near it. MRS. HUGH REID GRIFFIN.

President of the Society of American Women In London.

American women living in London found with regret a few years ago that as time passed they were less and less in touch with each other and with the work and thought of their sisters in the United States, and so in the year 1899, at the suggestion of Mrs. Hugh Reid Griffin, Mrs. De Friese and a few others, the Society of American Women in London was planned and organized. It is the ambition of this society, as it is stated in its constitution, "to bring together women who are engaged in literary, artistic, scientific and philanthropic pursuits, with a view of rendering them helpful to each other and useful to society." The society has three rooms at Prince's, handsomely decorated in empire style, which are always at the disposal of members, and also a large banqueting hall, in which they hold their monthly luncheons.

The president, Mrs. Hugh Reid Griffin, is the only daughter of Mrs. Wells-Beach of Waterbury, Conn., formerly of Chicago. She has lived twenty-two years in England and is the regent of the English chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution. She is a serious, earnest worker and has never missed a meeting of the society since its birth. The president of a club of thinking women who wish to be of real use to each other and to the world must be a patient master workman, and the secret of Mrs. Griffin's success is that she understands this fact.—Mrs. Stephen Crane in Woman's Home Companion.

Children and Newspapers.

In a recent article in a current magazine there is a protest against the newspaper reading child. "It is a deplorable fact that of late years a number of excellent magazines for children have been discontinued," says the writer, who goes on to show that the vogue of the newspaper has shortened the term of childhood and made it impossible to maintain juvenile periodicals.

It is impossible to prevent a boy or a girl from learning the facts of life. They come, prematurely perhaps, in a hundred different ways outside the columns of the newspaper. Much premature knowledge is gathered at school. The streets, the theaters, the public conveyances, all furnish sights and scenes that reveal much to the inquiring youthful mind. While it is to be regretted that the accounts of crimes and murders must be printed, these are actualities that cannot be ignored. The child that is old enough to read about what is happening in the world is old enough to begin to understand something of the many sided phases of humanity. The ephemeral contents of the daily paper present much that is instructive. Indeed, in some schools the lessons in current events are as important as any on the list of regular studies. Contemporaneous history, rightly read, is not less instructive than that which deals with ancient and mediæval times.

Instead of forbidding children to read newspapers, parents should choose the best journals and teach their children to read about matters of general interest. Critics may sound the alarm, but it is vain to prevent the newspaper reading child from existing. Since he has been evolved, it is well to respect his existence and to supply him with the best intellectual food for his twentieth century mind.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

When to Forget Oneself.

"There is no harm in making yourselves pretty, my dears," said Grandma Wiseman to her young readers in an eastern paper. "I do not like to see a girl who does not 'prink.' I am sure there must be something wanting in her. But, once dressed and in society, you should never show that you are thinking of your personal appearance. Stay as long as you like before your glass, consider the becomingness of every curl, the set of every fold of lace, examine yourself critically with your hand glass—back, front and on each side—but when you leave your room, whether you are satisfied or dissatisfied, forget all about your looks. No one who is conscious of herself can help showing it, and there is nothing that is so fatal to popularity. If you look pretty yourself, forgetfulness will prove an added attraction; if not, a frank unconsciousness will go far to atone for want of beauty. Girls do not realize how they show the trend of their thoughts by their gestures. The constant touches to their hair, the adjustment of belt or collar, the furtive look in every available mirror and, more than all, the preoccupied look and perfunctory smile that generally accompany such motions, all betray the vanity of which the girls themselves are probably unaware."

Original of Shakespeare's Portia.

Shakespeare's Portia is a pen portrait of Lucretia Cornaro, the first woman lawyer in the world, the Myra Bradwell of the fifteenth century, who received a degree of doctor of laws from the University of Padua, where she was educated and afterward lectured on law. Her biography has been published. She was a native of Venice.

Lucretia Cornaro was one of the most learned of women, and her biography gives remarkable accounts of her eloquence, erudition and influence. She was so much admired and respected that the doges and the council of ten used to consult her upon legal questions, and her fellow citizens submitted their differences to her for decision instead of going to court. It was natural, therefore, that she should be mixed up in the Shylock case.—Chicago Record-Herald.

Innocent Face Powder.

Ladies who insist upon powdering their faces before appearing at any social function, and most of them do, will appreciate the following advice from Harper's Bazar:

"I never buy any sort of skin powder," said a young girl the other day, though she was dabbing her face with some white substance at the moment. "This is starch powdered and perfumed with a bit of heliotrope sachet that my mother fixes." Her mother used the same before her. "We have each of us a little chamois bag that we puncture through and through with a rather coarse needle. Into this goes the powdered starch, a fine dust of it sifting through as it is used. Such a powder is absolutely safe, as it is sure to be free from any adulterant."

Mrs. Astor.

Mrs. William Astor is one of the most methodical of women. She has for years, as near as possible, chosen the same date for sailing to Europe, the same date for her return, for the opening of her Newport house and for her coming to town for the winter. Her passage is engaged on the ship on which she sails from one year to another. On the evening of her ball, which has for a number of years taken place with few exceptions on the first Monday in January, she does not occupy her opera box, although she is present at all the performances to which she is a subscriber. It has been Astor etiquette on that evening for the box to be untenanted, making the one gap in a brilliant horseshoe.

A Reason Worth Thinking About.

A little girl from a crowded tenement house was delightedly telling a friend in the College Settlement about her new teacher.

"She's just a perfect lady, that's what she is," said the child.

"Huh! How do you know she's a perfect lady?" questioned her friend. "You've known her only two days."

"It's easy enough telling," was the indignant answer. "I know she's a perfect lady because she makes me feel polite all the time."

A Homemade Music Portfolio.

A homemade music portfolio frequently answers the purpose as well as an expensive purchase at the shop. The covers of a large old book incased in a decorated slip of silk, satin or linen makes a satisfactory portfolio. Harps, lyres or other appropriate designs may be painted or embroidered on the upper cover and the folio tied with ribbons.

Women Officials.

More than 8,000 women are employed in the various government offices in Washington, 2,044 of whom have entered the service after competitive examination. Nine hundred of them are paid salaries ranging from $1,000 to $1,800 a year, the others being paid the compensation of ordinary clerks, $600 to $900 a year.

Gum Water.

To make gum water take one ounce of the best picked gum arabic and one quart of water. Put the gum in the water in a stoppered bottle and put in a warm place, occasionally shaking till all is dissolved. A teaspoonful taken occasionally for troublesome coughs is useful in allaying irritation.

If a shoe be accidentally scorched, it can be restored by spreading the place at once with soft soap and when cool wiping off the soap and rubbing the leather with a little sweet oil or vaseline.

When whalebone becomes too bent for use, let it soak for some hours in tepid water; then dry on a flat surface, and it will be good as new.

Place a jam jar in your hatbox and put your tulle hat on it. This will prevent the tulle becoming crushed in.

THE RISE OF MARCONI

SOME INTERESTING FACTS ABOUT THE YOUNG INVENTOR.

How He First Began Experimenting With Wireless Telegraphy—His Success In England With His Signals—His Work In America.

When Marconi first began his experiments with wireless telegraphy, he was strong in the belief that the ultimate result would be the sending of messages across the wide Atlantic without the use of wires. That his faith was well founded was shown recently, when he flashed signals from St. John's, N. F., to Cornwall, England, a distance of 1,700 miles. This achievement places him among the foremost inventors of the world.

The story of the struggle and triumph of this young genius of Anglo-Italian parentage fills one of the brightest pages in the history of science. He was born at Marzzbotta, near Bologna, of an Italian father and an English mother in 1875 and displayed a taste for scientific subjects in his boyhood.

The inventor is a singularly modest chap, with prominent nose, high forehead and dreamy eyes—quite the typical inventor. His face frequently takes on the expression of a man who has drifted into realms of profound thought.

Marconi speaks both English and Italian with equal fluency and, while positive in his opinions about his great invention, is as modest as real geniuses generally are. He was educated at the famous University of Bologna, the oldest university in the world, and it was at this institution, under the tutelage of Professor A. Righi, that he conceived and gave shape to his system of wireless telegraphy. He carried out many experiments on his family estate near Bologna before discovering the important fact that electric waves generated by a sparking apparatus of the kind used by the lamented German physicist Heinrich Hertz would carry to a long distance and were unaffected by intervening hills and natural obstacles. That discovery was the great turning point in his life.

In 1896 the inventor went to England and there found his first trusting patrons. The British postal authorities received him cordially, took an interest in his efforts to solve the great problem he had undertaken and provided for him means to experiment with signaling. Thus encouraged, he renewed his efforts. He worked night and day to improve his methods and increase his records. By establishing communication between captive balloons and perfecting the experiments with pole stations Marconi startled the English scientists. To test him a Dublin newspaper engaged him to report the Kingston yacht races. He was successful and soon afterward was at work in the English channel, the result of which was the establishment of wireless communication between Dover and Boulogne.

While in England one of his notable achievements was keeping the Prince of Wales, who was on the royal yacht Osborne, in touch with Queen Victoria's household in her last illness. Message after message was exchanged. Marconi finally won the great triumph of directing the English fleet in its maneuvers, sending messages more than eighty miles from one ship to another and 130 miles through two ship stations. English confidence was then thoroughly established and the system adopted by the British navy.

The dreams of Marconi began to be realized when in March, 1899, he received official permission from the French authorities for an experiment between Dover and Calais. By this time his success in sending wireless messages over long distances, in some instances thirty-two miles, attracted the attention of Emperor William of Germany, who instructed experts to experiment with the wireless system for the benefit of the German army and navy. It is said that nearly every experiment made was a success.

Marconi finally decided to come here and show us his wonders. After demonstrating the usefulness of the system and reporting the international yacht races he established a wireless station on Nantucket South Shoals lightship, forty-two miles offshore, and another at Siasconsett, island of Nantucket. A set of instruments had been placed on the steamship Lucania, bound for this port, and messages were exchanged which told the whereabouts of the Lucania twelve hours earlier than would otherwise have been known. More ambitious experiments followed, and Marconi's latest achievement is evidence that wireless telegraphy is about to become a fact and not a theory only.

A CUE FOR THE HOSTESS.

Bright Conversation Waits on Both Appetite and Digestion.

Nothing is more depressing than to sit at a table where the hostess maintains a habitual silence.

A young lady being compelled to go to a town some distance from her home took pains to engage board in a private family, and one of reputed refinement, thinking to find this more homelike and cheering than life in a boarding house.

Not many months elapsed before she became a victim to dyspepsia in one of its most painful forms. Being a teacher, her friends cried, "Overwork!" But the young lady herself told her physician that she believed the course wholly due to eating her meals in silence.

"Why do you, then, not break the silence?" inquired the physician.

"Break it!" she cried. "It is adamantine! I have tried my best to start conversation, but any subject I may suggest falls like a clod. I have even tried to joke, but beyond an occasional ghost of a smile I must do all the laughing myself. Mrs. A. sits stately and frigid throughout the meal, rarely speaking beyond necessity. I have given up and now just sit and swallow my food feeling like one in a nightmare all the while.

"She kills all the life and spontaneity out of every one at the table with her chilly manner, and we all eat in silence, but for the subdued clatter of our knives and forks, as if eating were the only thing in life."

"Change your boarding place at once," said the doctor. "No medicine can help you where you are."

The young lady followed his advice and needed no drugs.

No woman sitting at the head of a table has a right to be so absorbed in her own thoughts and interests that she will neglect her duty to make the mealtime a time of good cheer for one and all so far as it lies within her power to do so.

Her remarks need not necessarily be witty or wise, but she can at least show a kindly interest in all who sit at her table and desire to make life pleasant for them, concludes Table Talk.

Refreshing Baths.

A bath of limewater is very soothing to overexcited nerves. Some people mix almond paste with their bath; others prefer tincture of benzoin.

Nothing is better for the skin than a bran bath. Put two pounds of bran in a muslin bag and let it soak in a small quantity of water for three hours, then add it to the bath.

For a tonic and refreshing effect upon the skin dissolve in the bath half a pound of crystals of carbonate of soda, two handfuls of powdered starch and a teaspoonful of essence of rosemary.

An ammonia bath is excellent when the system is much exhausted and makes the flesh firm and smooth and purifies the skin.

Those who suffer from rheumatism will find relief by adding to the bath 100 grams of soft soap and 100 grams of essence of turpentine, shaken together until the mixture is a lather. The bather should remain in the bath for fifteen minutes and then get instantly into bed.

Plain Tapioca Pudding.

Soak four tablespoonfuls of tapioca over night in water to cover. Drain in the morning, add a quart of sweet milk to it and put in the double boiler or a pail set in a kettle of hot water on the stove. Boil until creamy, stirring occasionally. Add a cupful of cream and half a cupful of sugar. Beat the yolks of four eggs and stir in with the flavoring of lemon, orange or vanilla. Turn into a pudding mold or pan and bake three-quarters of an hour. About ten minutes before taking from the oven beat the whites of the eggs to a stiff meringue with four tablespoonfuls of pulverized sugar. Draw the pudding to the edge of the oven and pile the meringue carefully on top. Set back, leaving the oven door partially opened if too warm, and dry slowly until a thick golden glaze. Serve hot or cold.

Soiled Gloves.

For cleaning soiled gloves a compound made of the following ingredients has been recommended: One quart deodorized benzine, one dram sulphuric ether, one dram chloroform, two drams alcohol and sufficient cologne water to perfume.

Mops.

With a little practice one can wash dishes as well and as quickly with a dish mop as with a cloth and the hands. There should be two mops, one for the tableware and one for the cooking dishes. For washing floors have a self wringing mop.

Clerk's Wise Suggestion.

"I have lately been much troubled with dyspepsia, belching and sour stomach," writes M. S. Mead, leading pharmacist of Attleboro, Mass. "I could eat hardly anything without suffering several hours. My clerk suggested I try Kodol Dyspepsia Cure which I did with most happy results. I have had no more trouble and when one can go to eating mince pie, cheese, candy and nuts after such a time, their digestion must be pretty good. I endorse Kodol Dyspepsia Cure heartily. "You don't have to diet. Eat all the good food you want but don't overload the stomach. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure digests your food. C. M. Parrish.

The Want of Working People.

When the working man or woman feels sick—liver, stomach or kidneys are out of gear—then Dr. A. W. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills do a world of good acting directly on these organs and the bowels.

BAY CITY.

Mr. I. H. Mans, 1301 Columbus Avenue, Bay City, Mich., by overwork and too assiduous attention to his business, brought on an attack of kidney trouble, which made it necessary for him to leave off working at times. He states:

"On the recommendation of Mr. Geo. Leyer, druggist, of this place, I purchased a box of Dr. A. W. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for my kidney trouble. They acted so well in relieving my pain and backache that I persisted in the use of them until perfectly cured of my trouble. I am a well man now, thanks to the use of Dr. A. W. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills."

DETROIT.

Mr. Levi Elsey, 605 McDougal Avenue, Detroit, lived for years expecting death from heart failure and Bright's disease, but was cured by a few boxes of Dr. A. W. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. He writes: "For years I lived in constant fear that I should meet death through kidney trouble. I was troubled terribly by pains in my back and about the heart. My troubles are now over, for Dr. A. W. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills have made me well again. I will gladly answer any letters about this wonderful medicine."

DR. A. W. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS.

KICK A DOG

Kick a dog and he bites you. He bites you and you kick him. The more you kick the more he bites and the more he bites the more you kick. Each makes the other worse.

A thin body makes thin blood. Thin blood makes a thin body. Each makes the other worse. If there is going to be a change the help must come from outside.

Scott's Emulsion is the right help. It breaks up such a combination. First it sets the stomach right. Then it enriches the blood. That strengthens the body and it begins to grow new flesh.

A strong body makes rich blood and rich blood makes a strong body. Each makes the other better. This is the way Scott's Emulsion puts the thin body on its feet. Now it can get along by itself. No need of medicine.

This picture represents the Trade Mark of Scott's Emulsion and is on the wrapper of every bottle.

Another Set of Rules.

A set of rules for young men to follow are those laid down by a man who built an immense business, the ramifications of which extended all over the United States. They will bear perusal, and are as follows:

Keep good company or none. Never be idle.

If your hand cannot be usefully employed, attend to the cultivation of your mind.

Always speak the truth. Make few promises.

Live up to your engagements. Keep your own secrets, if you have any.

When you speak to a person look him in the face.

Good company and good conversation are the very sinews of virtue.

Good character is above all things else.

Your charater cannot be essentially injured except by your own acts.

If any one speaks evil of you let your life be so that none will believe him.

Drink no kind of intoxicating liquors.

Ever live (misfortunes excepted) within your income.

When you retire to bed think over what you have done during the day.

Make no haste to be rich, if you would prosper.

Small and steady gains give competency, with tranquility of mind.

Never play at any game of chance.

Avoid temptation, through fear you may not withstand it.

Earn money before you spend it.

Never run in debt unless you see a way to get out again.

Never borrow, if you can possibly avoid it.

Do not marry until you are able to support a wife.

Never speak evil of any one.

Be just before you are generous.

Keep yourself innocent if you would be happy.

Save when you are young, and spend when you are old.

Read over the above maxims at least once a week.—Chicago Journal.

Reward for Murderers.

A reward of $300 has been offered by the Elk county commissioners for the arrest and conviction of Tom Madeline, alias Domiano Masselno, and $200 for the arrest and conviction of Ben Baolo, alias Binny Paul, both of whom are wanted for the murder of James Heekin, at Shawmut, on January 25. The above reward has been doubled by the offer of $500 by the Shawmut Mining company, being $250 for the capture and return of either of the men.

—Charles W. Tripple, formerly agent for the Adams Express company at this place, has accepted an excellent position as traveling salesman for Weikle, Smith & Co., wholesale spice and match dealers, of Philadelphia. This is the firm that handles the entire output of the Pennsylvania Match company.

—Harris B. Heylman has very generously offered a prize of ten dollars to the Freshman or Sophmore class at the Bellefonte High school who shall excel in a rhetorical contest. The contest will take place in May and five will be chosen from the Sophmore and five from the freshman class to compete for the prize.

A DARING ESCAPE!

Biddle Brothers, Murderers, Make Their Escape.

OUT OF THE ALLEGHENY JAIL

One Report is that They are Dressed in Railway Uniforms, are Armed to the Teeth and Will Fight Desperately.

A REWARD OF $5,000 IS OFFERED

PITTSBURG, Jan. 31.—Edward and John Biddle, awaiting execution in the county jail for the murder of Grocer Thomas D. Kahney, of Mt. Washington, overpowered the guards at 4 o'clock this morning and escaped. Both prisoners had been provided with saws with which they cut the bars in their cells, and were ready at any moment to make an opening sufficiently large to pass through. The prisoners occupied adjoining cells on the second range.

They had evidently been preparing for escape for some time, and had assistance from the outside, as both were armed with revolvers.

Shortly before 4 o'clock one of the Biddles called to James McGeary, who had charge of the outside gate and asked for some cramp medicine in a hurry, saying his brother was dangerously sick. McGeary hastened to the cell with the medicine, when John Biddle sprang through the opening in the cell and, seizing the guard around the waist, hurled him over the railing to the stone floor below, a distance of 16 feet. Edward Biddle joined his brother immediately and both with drawn revolvers, hurried to the first floor where they met Guard Reynolds and shot him.

There were but three men on duty and the third was on one of the upper ranges. He was ordered down at the point of a revolver and the three guards were put in the dungeon. The keys were taken from Keeper McGeary and the two desperate prisoners had a clear field.

The only persons who witnessed the escape were prisoners, who could not interfere or give an alarm.

The Biddles went to the wardrobe where the guards kept their clothing and each put on a new suit. They then unlocked the outside gates and passed out into Ross street.

The escape was not discovered until the daylight guards came on duty at 6 o'clock. They were informed by prisoners where the night guards had been put, and they were soon released from the dungeon and sent to the Homoepathic hospital. The bullet wound sustained by Reynolds is not regarded as dangerous.

The physicians have been unable to ascertain as yet the full extent of McGeary's wounds. His head is badly contused, but there are no signs that his skull was fractured by his 16-foot fall.

The escape of the Biddles has been explained. Warden Peter K. Soffel has authorized its publication. It is the allegation that his wife is responsible for the furnishing of the revolvers and saws to the Biddles which enabled them to escape. In her infatuation for the handsome desperado—Edward Biddle—it is alleged that she has left her husband and her four children and, it is supposed, is to meet the escaped convicts at a place agreed upon.

The story of the matter is brief: Mrs. Soffel was the only person admitted to the jail since last Sunday. Wednesday afternoon she visited them during the warden's absence. Wednesday evening when she retired at 9 o'clock she told her husband that she was going to visit a sister at McDonald.

Later, when the details of the escape became known, he telegraphed to McDonald, and was informed that Mrs. Soffel was not there. Warden Soffel immediately made a frank confession of his suspicions.

The county commissioners met this afternoon and offered a reward of $5,000 for the re-capture of the murderers.

A report is current that the Biddles escaped from the city along the Pittsburg and Western railroad. Scores of people at Etna, Pine Creek and Sharpsburg claim to have seen them. Whether they caught a train is not known.

The friends of Mrs. Soffel believe that she could not have been in her right mind when she aided in the escape of the Biddles. For some years she has been an invalid and about one year ago she was sent to a sanitarium. She came back very much improved, but the long and painful illness is believed to have weakened her mind.

Her husband devoted time and money for the relief of the suffering of his wife but it is said that she has never fully recovered her health and at times was melancholy.

Heart-Sick People.

Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart is a heart tonic that never fails to cure—is swift in its effects—goes closer to the "border land" and snatches from death's grip more sufferers than any other remedy for any family of diseases and ailments in the category of human sufferings. Gives relief in 30 minutes.—38

Sold by F. Potts Green.

Physicians are calling attention to the fact that influenza or grip has come to stay. In the larger cities there has been a marked increase in diseases affecting the organs of respiration, which increase is attributed to the prevalence of influenza. Persons who are recovering from grip or influenza are in a weak condition and peculiarly liable to pulmonary disease.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures coughs, bronchitis, lung "trouble" and other diseases of the organs of respiration. It is the best tonic medicine for those whose strength and vitality have been exhausted by an attack of grip.

It purifies the blood, cleansing it of the poisonous accumulations which breed and feed disease. It gives increased activity to the blood-making glands, and so increases the supply of pure blood, rich with the red corpuscles of health.

"A word for your 'Golden Medical Discovery,'" writes Mrs. E. A. Bender, of Keene, Coshocton Co., Ohio. "We have been using it as a family medicine for more than four years. As a cough remedy and blood-purifier there is nothing better, and after having the grip Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is just the right medicine for a complete bracing up."

Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." There is nothing "just as good" for diseases of the stomach, blood, and lungs.

The sluggish liver is made active by the use of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

Blames Truancy for Crime.

Superintendent John Morrow, of the Allegheny city schools, recently addressed a teachers' meeting on "Hooliganism in the American Schools." Mr. Morrow said:

"After years of experience with truants, having studied their motives and careers from start to finish, I am quite prepared to believe, with Sir Walter Besant, that truancy uninterrupted leads to poverty, sorrow, the jail, the penitentiary, the gallows, and is the highway to hell.

"The miserable coward who slew William McKinley was said to have been a product of the American public school; but from most reliable sources I am informed he was a confirmed truant. It was not what he got in the public schools but what he did not get there, that made him the unprincipled scoundrel he was.

"Eighty per cent. of the inmates of the Western penitentiary are said to have been truants, and Morganza reports 90 per cent. of 'Hooligans' from the same cause."

CAPTURED!

Biddle Brothers shot Down by Detectives.

END OF AN EXCITING CHASE

It Wound Up Near Butler Pa.—The Two Brother and Mrs. Soffel Were Seriously Wounded.

NONE OF THE CAPTORS WERE HURT

PITTSBURG, January 31.—A telegram from Butler to-night says:

Edward Biddle is in jail dying, John Biddle, riddled with buckshot and in a precarious condition, and Mrs. Peter K. Soffel, lying in the hospital with a self-inflicted bullet found in the breast is the sequel of the sensational escape of the Biddle brothers from the Allegheny county jail, aided by Mrs. Soffel, the wife of the jail warden, on Thursday morning.

The scene of the shooting was a snow covered road two miles east of Prospect, Butler county, near Mount Chestnut, and the exact place was at McClure's barn, where two double team sleighs, filled with eight officers, three of them Pitteburg detectives, John Roach, Albert Swinehard and Charles McGovern met the two Biddles in a one horse sleigh, stolen at Perryville, and at once opened fire on the trio. The Biddles returned the fire after jumping out of the sleigh. Mrs. Soffel was shot through the breast.

Edward Biddle was shot in the left arm, in the breast and in one leg.

John Biddle was riddled with buckshot in the breast and head.

The Pittsburg officers were met at Butler this afternoon by Duputy Sheriffs Rainey and Hoon and Officers Frank Holliday and Aaron Thompson, the latter under command of Chief of Police Robert Ray, of Butler.

The officers were certain that they were on the right trail. It was only a question of time when they would catch up to the escaping condemned murderers and their guilty companion.

The Biddles and Mrs. Soffel ate dinner at J. J. Stephen's, at Mount Chestnut, five miles east of Butler. They had made a detour of the town of Butler, and after going several miles east turned north and then west. The Pitteburg officers, only a few miles in the rear, took the wrong road for about eight miles, but when they found their mistake they made up for lost time by telephoning and telegraphing ahead for fresh horses.

They reached Mount Chestnut not less than half a hour after the Biddles and Mrs. Soffel. At this point William Watson, storekeeper, had fresh horses awaiting them, and the chase for life began anew.

The two sleighs with the eight officers aboard started westward and met the Biddles and Mrs. Soffel at McClure's barn, two miles from Mount Prospect. The Biddles having learned that they were almost overtaken, and taking what they considered the only chance they had drove eastward and met their doom.

The officers were armed with Winchester rifles and revolvers of large calibre. They shot to kill and their aim was perfect. The Biddles tried to kill to the last of their string, but not one of the eight officers had a wound as the result of the battle.

When the detectives got within about sixty yards of the fugitives they opened fire. The Biddles promptly answered with shotgun and revolvers. When Ed Biddle fell and Mrs. Soffel saw she was about to be captured, she fired a bullet into her breast. An examination by physicians shows that she will recover, as the bullet was deflected by her corset and the wound is comparatively slight.

Ed. Biddle got a bullet in the breast which penetrated his right lung and will probably end his life before morning. John Biddle may recover, his wounds, though numerous, failing to reach a vital spot. The escape of the officers is miraculous. The Biddles have demonstrated on several occasions that they are good marksmen and why they should have failed yesterday to bring down their men is a mystery.

After the Biddles fell to the snow-covered ground the officers picked up the apparently lifeless bodies of Mrs. Soffel and the Biddles and came back to Butler, bringing the stolen sleigh, patched up harness and worn out horse that the trio had tried so strenuously to get away with toward Canada and liberty.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Don't Know it.

How To Find Out.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What to Do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in 50c. and $1. sizes.

You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful discovery and a book that tells more about it, both sent absolutely free by mail, address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper.

COURT NEWS

Hon. H. M. McClure, of the Union-Snyder District on the Bench.

(Reported by W Harrison Walker, Esq.)

The second week of January term of court was called Monday morning at 9 o'clock with Hon. John G. Love, P. J., on the bench and Prothonotary Gardner and Register Archey in their usual places.

C. S. McCormick, Esq., of Lock Haven, is present at court, being interested in the trial of the case of Kinkead vs. Pierce. Attorney Crosby, of Philipsburg, is also here, being interested in the same case.

G. S. Burrows, Esq., of Sunbury, the official court stenographer, is present.

Judge McClure, of Lewisburg, will sit in several cases for trial this week. Stenographer Faries, of Sunbury, is also present.

Quite a number of motions and petitions were presented during the morning session by several attorneys.

The first case called was that of Robert Kinkead vs. Rosa L. Pierce, being an action in assumpsit to recover taxes due or alleged to be due plaintiff from defandant on her properties in Philipsburg for the years 1893, '94, '95 and '96. The amount claimed to be due is about $800.

Court adjourned at 11 a. m. until 1:30 p. m.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The case of Robert Kinkead vs. Rosa L. Pierce was resumed at 1:30.

The claim of the plaintiff is that during the years 1893, '94, '95 and '96 the tax due by defendant was about $1,600; that she has paid about $1,000 and that the amount due by her at this time, together with interest, is about $800.

The plaintiff moved to have pleadings amended, whereupon the defendant, by her counsel, entered the plea of "surprise" and the case was continued.

On account of the illness of one of the important witnesses the following cases were continued: Monroe H. Kulp & Co., Incorporated, vs. Nathan Hough, ejectment; plea, not guilty. Emeline Hough vs. Monroe H. Kulp et al, trading as Monroe H. Kulp & Co., Incorporated, ejectment; plea, not guilty. Emeline Hough vs. Monroe H. Kulp, et al, trespass; plea, not guilty. Nathan Hough vs. Monroe H. Kulp & Co., ejectment; plea, not guilty.

On account of an amendment being asked in the case of M. C. Gephart vs Bellefonte Central Railroad, the defendant company plead "surprise" and the case was continued at the costs of the plaintiff.

The case of John G. Love et al, executors of Adam Hoy, dec'd, vs. The German-American Insurance Co., being an action of assumpsit, was settled.

The jury in the case of Lilly Fleck vs. Valentine A. Fleck, being an action for a divorce, returned a verdict in favor of the plaintiff. From the evidence the grounds of divorce were cruelty, etc.

The case of Henry J. Rothrock vs. Chas. Rothrock, administrator c. t. a. of etc., of Dr. Thos. Rothrock, deceased, was called Monday afternoon at about 4:30 o'clock before Hon. H. M. McClure, of the Union-Snyder district. The plaintiff was represented by the firm of Fortney & Walker, W. E. Gray, Esq., and Harry Keller, Esq., the defendant by Hon. A. O. Furst, Reeder & Quigley and Clement Dale, Esqs.

The case is founded on a judgment note given in February, 1878, after remaining on record about twenty years application was made to open the said judgment to ascertain how much was due upon the note, it being admitted that at the time the note was given for the sum of $2,500 that much did not pass as the consideration. One of the reasons that the matter has not heretofore been settled was that the fund out of which the money advanced at the time the note was made was to be paid was not available until after the death of Mrs. Nancy Rothrock, which occurred some time in 1894.

Since that time the estate has been under process of settlement and the fund only recently made available under a certain decision of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania.

It is alleged on the part of the defendant that the note in question was given only as collateral security in consideration that the plaintiff, together with other persons, should enter into a recognizance for the appearance of Dr. Thos. Rothrock at the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Clinton county, who was charged with a very serious crime and which was to be tried at the February term of court, 1878, in the City of Lock Haven. This phase of the case, however, the plaintiff as well as many witnesses called deny, and insist that the said note was given for money that was advanced at the time of the trial to aid in the Doctor's defense. It is also alleged, as well as supported by testimony of plaintiff's witnesses, that at the time this note was signed $550 was paid over to the defendant by the plaintiff, as well as a large amount of money during the trial of the case at Lock Haven.

Later the Doctor was arrested in Centre county, charged with a similar crime, at which time, from the testimony, the plaintiff gave to the defendant sums of money for the attorneys, witnesses, etc., to aid in the defense of the Doctor, and which sums of money it was agreed between the parties was to be secured by the note upon which judgment was entered in 1878.

Case went to jury at 5:05 Wednesday evening. As yet no verdict has been rendered.

—The furnace requires extra attention now.

Rev. Dr. Gamewell's Address.

On Sunday morning a large audience listened to an interesting address delivered in the Methodist church by Dr. Frank D. Gamewell.

Dr. Laurie dispensed with his services in the Presbyterian church and his congregation joined the Methodists to listen to Dr. Gamewell.

The defenses for the besieged Legations in Pekin during the uprising of the Boxers in China were planned and executed by Dr. Gamewell, who talked directly from personal knowledge and experience, but was noticeably modest with reference to the important part he played during those weeks of torture and trial.

His description of the siege was exceedingly interesting and his hearers now have a clearer idea of that great event in the recent history of the world than they before possessed from reading in the newspapers the daily account of the siege as it progressed. To the Divine Being he most humbly gave the credit for the deliverance of himself and associates from bondage and death, but made it clear that only through human agency could and did the Lord work. His talk was most interesting throughout and held the attention of the audience from start to finish.

Quite a liberal collection was taken up for mission work.

HON. JAMES MILLIKEN.

Died Tuesday Morning at the Hoffman House, New York.

Hon. James Milliken, who for many years was a resident of Bellefonte and one of its most prominent citizens, but who of late has resided in New York city, died Tuesday morning at 4 20 o'clock at the Hoffman House in the above mentioned city. Death was due to the infirmities incident to his advanced age.

The remains will be brought to Bellefonte this morning on the 9:32 train and will be taken to the Presbyterian church, where the funeral services will take place at 11 o'clock, conducted by Rev. William Laurie, D. D., LL. D. Interment in the Union cemetery.

James Milliken was the third son of Foster Milliken and was born in Mifflin county, Pa., July 23, 1826, making his age 75 years, 6 months and 9 days. His father died when James was quite young leaving the family in limited circumstances, so that at an early period in life he was placed with the Messrs. Valentine, of Centre county, as a clerk. He acted as their agent for the sale of their iron in New York state and was for several years located for that purpose in Elmira, N. Y. He later engaged in business with his uncles at Lewistown. In 1850 he entered the grain business in Philadelphia, the firm being Richardson & Milliken, but after a few years he engaged in business more suited to his taste, the manufacture of iron, becoming a member of the Phoenix Iron Company of Philadelphia.

He became quite prominent in Philadelphia affairs and at the outbreak of the rebellion he was a member of the Board of Trade, director of several railroad companies, and one of the originators of the great Union League that did so much in behalf of the country in suppressing the rebellion. He was a member of the committee, of which the Mayor was chairman, which distributed a bounty of several millions to the volunteers.

After the war owing to a breakdown in his health he devoted several years to travel, visiting most of the countries of Europe. He crossed the great Arabian desert, scaled Mt. Sinai, visited the Holy Land, Greece, Turkey and Mexico.

His address in the State convention at Harrisburg, May 10, 1882, in nominating Gen. James A. Beaver for Governor, has been described by the public press of the day as "a model, and one of the most eloquent ever delivered in a political body of that character." Mr. Milliken was the author of several books of travel to be found in the public libraries of Philadelphia and New York.

Mr. Milliken returned to Bellefonte in 1871 and resided here up to a few years ago. He took a great interest in the affairs of the town and was greatly honored by all who knew him. He is survived by his sister Miss Marion Milliken of this place.

He was one of the successful men of our times. Standing in the first rank in every relation of life, and in his life and character exemplifying the fullest illustration of the advice of the celebrated Bishop of England who on being asked by a noble lord what he should give his son to enable him to get on in the world, replied, "give him poverty and parts."

The party was chaperoned by Misses Millie Smith and Henrietta Butts.

Death of Elisha Houck.

Elisha Houck, one of the most widely known and esteemed farmers of Krider valley, died at his home about four miles east of Warriorsmark, at two o'clock Friday morning. He had been ailing more or less for a year, but did not take seriously ill until the night before he died. Heart trouble was his affliction. He was aged 69 years, 8 months and 6 days.

He leaves a wife and twelve children. Among the number are George H. and Wilfred E. Houck, of Philipsburg, and Mrs. Harry Sutton, of Snow Shoe.

Caught in the Belting.

James H. Rine, who is employed in the planing mill of P. B. Crider & Son., sustained quite a severe injury Monday afternoon about 2 o'clock. He was putting on a new belt when in some manner his right arm became entangled in the belting and before he could free himself his arm was broken near the shoulder. Although suffering excruciating pain he walked to his home on West High street where his injuries were treated by Dr. George F. Harris.

—Bishop Ethelbert Talbot will preach at State College Sunday morning and in the evening will drive to Bellefonte and preach in St. John's Episcopal church. As he is one of the foremost pulpit orators of the day, no doubt there will be a large attendance.
